BELMONT FAMILY SLAIN

Tot And Parents Found Dead In Apparent Murder

Daughter, Boyfriend Sought For Questioning; Couple Shot, Child Had Skull Fracture

By DEL HARDING
Star Staff Writer

Three members of the Marion Bartlett family — apparently the victims of a triple murder — were found dead about 4:30 p.m. Monday in two sheds behind their home at 924 Belmont.

Dead are: Marion Bartlett, 57; his wife, Velda, 37; and their daughter, Betty Jean, who would have been 3 on Feb. 11th.

Bartlett

Mrs. Bartlett

Betty Jean

The girl reportedly lived with her mother and step-father at 924 Belmont. A positive address on Starkweather was not available (but he is a Lincoln resident).

Police in six states are seeking the pair, who reportedly were last seen about 5:30 p.m. Monday southbound from Lincoln. Scheele said they "may be armed" but declined to elaborate.

Authorities reported the bodies of the Bartletts were found by Robert Von Busch, 19, (a son-in-law of Mrs. Bartlett) and Rodney Starkweather, 21, brother of Charles.

Von Busch and Rodney Starkweather had reportedly gone to the home to see if anything was wrong after Mrs. Bartlett's mother—Mrs. Pansey Street of Lincoln—had been refused admittance to the home about 9 a.m. Monday by Carol Fugate.

Checked—Found Nothing

Mrs. Street reportedly then returned to the home about 10 a.m. with two police detectives, but found Carol had gone. The police entered the home through a window, and finding nothing apparently wrong, they left. They did not check the two sheds at the rear of the house, which later yielded the bodies.

Bartlett's body was found wrapped in rags and discarded quilts in a chicken house and the bodies of Mrs. Bartlett and young Betty Jean were found in an abandoned outhouse. Scheele said the bodies were not dismembered.

A hand-written sign on the home's front door had this warning: "Stay a way. Every Body is Sick With The Flu." It was signed "Miss Bartlett."

Strike Is Staged By 275 Inmates At Montana Pen

DEER LODGE, Mont. (AP)—About 275 inmates of the Montana State Prison staged a sitdown Monday. Warden F. O. Burrell said there was no violence.

It was the first reported disturbance at the institution since a violent riot last July 30 in which several guards were held for a while as hostages.

Burrell said Monday night he did not know what caused the strike.

The warden said the strikers represent less than half the number of prisoners in the institution. The population is 614, he said.

The prisoners began their demonstration quietly and without warning shortly after breakfast.

The warden said they reported for work shifts at the prison and then the ringleaders apparently passed the word.

Armed guards herded the strikers behind bars to the maximum security cellblock without difficulty. Burrell said. However, the strikers resisted efforts to make them retire to their individual cells at night.

Both clubs recently dropped out of the Western League. See Sports Editor Don Bryant's story on Sports Page 11.

Partly Cloudy Skies Forecast

Considerably cloudy skies with high readings of 30 in the east and 40 to 45 in the west were predicted for Nebraska Tuesday.

Monday's highs ranged from 46 at Imperial to 27 at Omaha with Lincoln reporting 29.

Marshall Injured

Charles Marshall of Elmwood, president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, was listed in good condition Monday night in a Lincoln hospital. Marshall suffered lacerations in an auto accident near Elmwood Monday.

Navy Try At Space Given Up

Army Effort To Orbit Satellite Said Near

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An attempt to launch the Army's Jupiter-C earth satellite appeared near Monday night.

The Navy plainly has deferred its own try with the Vanguard rocket and the Army effort conceivably could come any time between Tuesday and next week.

Unusual activity around the Army launching area — particularly in the movement of large cranes and other vehicles — could be observed from beaches near the closely guarded missile test center.

Furthermore, personnel identified with the project have reappeared here after absences of various times.

Dismantled

Indications of renewed Army preparations for a Jupiter-C launch attempt this week or next coincided with the partial dismantling of the Navy's Vanguard satellite-bearing rocket. The Navy was observed removing the second stage of its 72-foot rocket, obviously for corrective work.

Watchers guessed that there was little doubt that the Navy had given up for the present its effort to put a 6.4-inch satellite into orbit, and thus had left the field wide open for the Army Jupiter-C effort.

This new development in the misfortune-dogged Vanguard program became evident only because, after days of rain and fog, the launching towers on the cape again were highly visible in bright sunlight.

Secrecy

Secrecy cloaking plans for the two satellite projects remained as strict as ever. The Defense Department and the civilian scientists assigned to the programs are trying hard to prevent a buildup of the pressures and tensions which surrounded the Dec. 6 Vanguard launch attempt.

In that earlier try, the chances of success were vastly exaggerated. The result was disappointment and uncalled for bitterness when the Vanguard blew up on its launching pad.

The Navy tried valiantly much of last week to get its complex test vehicle through the last stages of its pre-launching program.

Heavy rains and high winds, day after day, compounded their problems, as did a series of mechanical difficulties. Many of the latter stemmed from the unseasonable dampness, and from the need to retain corrosive propellants over long in the rocket's tanks.

As a last straw, two men were injured while working on the rocket Sunday.

Tax Committee Has Spent $1,467

... Terry's Group Expenses Largest

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Otto Liebers of Lincoln, chairman of the executive committee of the Legislative Council, Monday released to the press figures showing expenditures of each legislative committee, with the Tax Law Violations Committee heading the list with expenses of $1,467.

Liebers had said last Friday, following a meeting of the executive committee, "One committee has come pretty close to its share of the funds, but I don't think it's fair for me to say which one," adding that to do so "would just cause the committee to lose some of its effectiveness."

The Groundwater Committee, was second on the list with expenditures of $445, and the Secondary Boycott Committee was third with expenditures totaling $437.

The Installment Loans and Retail Credit Practices Committee has reported expenditures thus far of $200; the Healing Arts Committee, $148; Sales and Income Tax, $123; Fish, Game and Recreation, $117, and Retirement Systems, $15.

The remaining four standing committees have not yet held any meetings.

$14,000 Budgeted

The list released Monday shows a total of $14,750 budgeted for all 12 committees, and divides it on the basis of $8,250 for mileage and $6,500 for board and lodging.

The expenses of the Tax Law Violations Committee were broken down to show that its chairman, Sen. Terry Carpenter, has listed expenses totaling $974. Other members of the committee have expenses listed totaling $218, and a third category for the committee lists "transcripts and miscellaneous" as $274.

Sen. Liebers said last week if the total budget were divided equally it would give each committee "about $1,300," and said there would be attempts to help a committee that needed more than that amount.

Sen. Norman Otto of Kearney, chairman of the Sales and Income Tax Committee, said Sunday that he "would have no objection" to "sharing half of his committee's funds with Sen. Carpenter."

U.S. Lags In Arms To Troops

WASHINGTON (AP)—Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald A. Quarles has told senators the Russians have superiority in equipment for their ground forces.

Quarles' testimony, taken behind closed doors by the Senate's Preparedness subcommittee and just now released, indicated a new field in which the United States may be lagging behind Russia.

The subcommittee previously had heard statements that the Soviets are ahead in long range missiles and satellite development.

Questioned by Edwin L. Weisl, subcommittee counsel, about Russian possession of what he called "ramjet artillery," Quarles said the Soviets have shown they were "very advanced" in equipping their ground forces.

"Concede"

"I think that in detail one might dispute some of these advantages," he said, "but nevertheless that would be in detail and let us concede them general superiority in their present ground force equipment."

One of the subcommittee's 17 recommendations in its interim report called for action to "modernize and strengthen ground and naval forces."

U.S., Russ OK Plan On Swaps

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Russia Monday agreed on a momentous two-year swap of films, radio-television broadcasts and about 500 experts in everything from ballet dancing to horse doctoring.

Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarinin, called it the most important achievement of his five years in Washington.

President Eisenhower applauded the accord, saying he hoped it would be carried out in the same spirit which has animated the negotiations.

"I sincerely trust," Eisenhower said in a statement, "that through such agreements a better understanding will result between the peoples of the United States and the Soviet Union."

Hailed

The State Department issued a statement hailing the agreement as a "significant first step in the improvement of mutual understanding."

The department, mirroring Eisenhower's words, declared: "It is sincerely hoped that it will be carried out in such a way as to contribute substantially to the betterment of relations between the two countries, thereby also contributing to a lessening of international tensions."

Conspicuously absent from the agreement, were the two things the United States most wanted: An end to Kremlin jamming of Voice of America Russian language radio broadcasts to the Soviet Union, and regular uncensored radio-TV commentaries on world events.

Not Fixed

The radio-TV broadcasts agreed upon will include discussions of "international political problems." But these will be at no fixed period and will be subject to a veto—hence, censorship—by either government.

The Russians did not get everything they sought, either, in the painstaking talks which started Oct. 28.

Like the U.S. proposals, these were deferred to possible later negotiations.

-Congress- Atomic Gifts Asked

Ever Is Urged To Give Allies A-Secrets

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration asked Congress Monday for authority to give U.S. allies hitherto secret atomic weapons information, as well as raw materials and weapon components.

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) offered proposed legislation to carry out the President's recommendations for building up the free world's atomic defenses and avoiding duplication of scientific work among allies.

AEC chairman Lewis L. Strauss proposed that the President be given discretion to exchange any atomic weapon information with an ally which is making "substantial and material contributions to the national defense and security."

The authorizations provided by AEC's proposed amendments to the Atomic Energy Act would stop short of providing for transfer of complete atomic weapons to other countries.

Strauss said "it is not the intent... to promote the entry of additional nations into the atomic weapons field." The proposed legislation is worded to encourage "exchanges" of information with nations already active in the field—presumably Britain, and possibly Canada and France.

Hearings

Rep. Durham (D-NC), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, and Sen. Pastore (D-RI), chairman of its subcommittee on international agreements, said the legislative proposals were referred to the subcommittee and will be considered at executive sessions Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Public hearings will be held later, they added.

Eisenhower emphasized in his State of the Union message Jan. 9 what he termed the importance of removing restrictions on exchange of scientific and technical information with friendly countries. He said this would mean that all the efforts of the free world could be mobilized to stay ahead of the Soviet bloc in technological war readiness.

The proposed amendments would remove from the act prohibitions against revealing "important information concerning the design or fabrication of the nuclear components of an atomic weapon." Also deleted would be a ban against furnishing special nuclear material to another nation for military purposes.

The law as AEC proposed to have it amended would authorize non-nuclear parts of atomic weapons, military reactors and nuclear materials to be furnished to allies. Nuclear components of U.S. weapons would be retained in U.S. custody.

Military reactors could be made available to allies for both military propulsion and power purposes.

Need For Interstate Connection Plans 'Critical'

Council Told City Must Get Going

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Planning for access route connections to Nebraska's Interstate Highway and increasing traffic was termed a "critical need" Monday before the City Council during a special meeting with city officials.

Though 9th and 10th have been proposed as access connections, other problems concerning city "connections" and other streets were not previously presented to the Council.

Following lengthy discussion, the Council agreed that: —Harland Bartholomew & Associates should make a detailed study of the situation to define various traffic and street problems and develop several "alternate solution" plans.

—The University of Nebraska would be requested at the Saturday meeting of its Board of Regents to consider a $2,500 contribution to the planning project estimated to cost $10,000.

City problems concerning the access routes, Mayor Bennett Martin told the Council, came out of a meeting last week with State Engineer L. N. Reas.

Attending with Martin were City Engineer Carl Fisher, Public Works Director D. L. Erickson and City Planning Engineer Douglas Brogren.

Some Of Problems

Some of the outlined city problems expected from the access routes with the Interstate are:

—How the 9th and 10th access routes from the Interstate should be brought into Lincoln and "city connections" made with the business district and other areas.

—Development of access streets for the State Fairgrounds, Belmont area, and the University of Nebraska campus.

—Routing of increased traffic through or around the University campus. The University would like to close 14th to arterial traffic.

No. 10th Viaduct

—What should be done with the North 10th viaduct, now considered obsolete, but presently a vital connection for the north edges of Lincoln.

Brogren said the cost of the Interstate survey on a "speeded-up" basis would cost $7,425. But, he added, the additional cost would be up to $3,675 if the $30,000 project to up-date the city's comprehensive plan, now being considered, is approved later.

He said work on the survey could begin within a week after approval, with a preliminary report being furnished in four weeks and final plans being submitted three weeks later.

Both Fisher and Erickson urged the Council to use the services of Harland Bartholomew & Associates and George A. Barton & Associates, traffic consultants, on the access routes.

Cost About $10,000

The cost of Barton's consulting services were not immediately available, but the combined cost of the survey was estimated up to $10,000.

City officials said the survey cost would be money "well spent" to avoid possible blunders that could be costly.

Brogren said that according to state estimates, by 1957 30,000 cars a day would be dumped by the access routes on 9th and 10th at either R, S or T.

He said this would be more than double the present traffic volume at these intersections which are "close to capacity now."

Widening, Signals

The increased traffic would require "widening of the intersections and streets and new signaling," Brogren said.

Another official pointed out that the access routes, would not be "convenient" for the Belmont area and city connection would be needed to handle football traffic for the University campus and to the State Fairgrounds.

The North 10th viaduct was described as "obsolete" and "needing rebuilding" if it were to handle increased traffic loads.

The possibility of locating Lincoln's two access routes west of the proposed 9th and 10th routes was mentioned at the meeting.

Decision Incomplete

Fisher told the Council that the state hasn't completely decided where the access routes should be located.

It was pointed out that the University is concerned over increased traffic from the access routes and would like to close 14th street as an arterial through its campus.

Brogren said the development of 16th and 17th as access routes to the University campus and State Capitol area should be considered.

The handling of football traffic on the University campus and traffic to the State Fairgrounds from the access routes are also serious problems, the Council was told.

The Council generally approved quick action to start the Bartholomew survey and approved Martin's letter to the Board of Regents for a $2,500 contribution toward the costs.

City Woman Back; Sought In Child-Taking

A Lincoln woman sought by Marysville, Kan. law officers for taking her three-year-old daughter from the child's grandmother is reported back in Lincoln with the child.

J. Jay Marx, attorney in the firm of Wagener, Marx and Galter which is representing the woman, said that the mother, Mrs. Gloria Morris, will refuse to waive extradition to Kansas, and will be available to respond to any legal developments.

Police Chief Leo Schramm of Marysville said that Mrs. Morris had been sought for taking her daughter, Kitamarie Huddleston, from the child's great grandmother.

Father In Marines

The child's father, whom Schramm said had custody in the Marine Corps, and the child's great grandmother, Mrs. Ann Nester has been taking care of her in Marysville.

Mrs. Nester's daughter, Betty Dusch had taken Kitamarie to visit with Mrs. Morris and with an unidentified woman believed to be from Seward, Neb., when the child was taken, Schramm said.

The group had apparently gone to a Marysville afe in Mrs. Morris' car, he said, but Mrs. Dusch got out of the car first and the other two women drove away with the child.

Attorney Marx said his firm had been employed Monday to represent Mrs. Morris. He said a purported decree by a Nevada court gave the great grandmother and father custody, but that the child had never been in Nevada. He said that there was no valid court judgment on the custody of the child in Kansas, and that apparently the Nevada court had no jurisdiction.

Cooley Says U.S. Farmers Were Fleeced

WEBSTER CITY, Ia. (INS)—House Agriculture Committee chairman Harold Cooley (D-NC) Monday night accused Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson of having "flogged, flinched and fleeced the American farmer to the door of bankruptcy."

Cooley was principal speaker at the Democratic election year farm campaign "kickoff" at Webster City, Ia.

Earlier, at a news conference in Des Moines, Cooley said the Republican farm program was leading the nation into another "Hoover-type depression."

Other speakers, all of whom took the Republican administration to task for its farm policies, included Iowa's lone Democratic Congressman, Merwin Coad of Boone, and Gov. Herschel Loveless.

'Overrated'

Cooley described Benson as "the most overrated man in the nation" and said the Agriculture Secretary has continually "modified" farm legislation passed by the Democratic-dominated Congress.

"Eventually he will modify farmers into bankruptcy," Cooley declared.

The North Carolina Democrat said the farmer had been made the "whipping boy" of the Eisenhower administration and insisted that high price supports were necessary for farm commodities in the interests of the entire national economy.

Negro Family's Move Talked At Meeting Attended By 50

An estimated 50 persons Monday night attended a two-hour meeting to review the status of a neighborhood protest against a Negro family recently moving into the area.

Civic, church and real estate representatives addressed the group which was chairmanned by a Lincoln attorney retained by neighbors of the Negro family.

The attorney reported to the group that "everything possible" is being done to find other suitable housing for the Negro family composed of a 33-year-old construction work foreman, his wife, and three preschool children.

The Negro man verified that the attorney had talked to him about moving to other housing, and told The Star that he had refused to give the attorney an answer on whether he would make the move if another home were found for his family.

A realtor reviewed the present crowded conditions now existing in the area of Lincoln presently inhabited mainly by minority groups. He added that "this housing shortage must be solved by the entire city and county—not by one small group or an individual."

Neighbors questioned the invited church, civic and real estate representatives, on their solutions to the situation and were told by several "not to panic" and to let the situation resolve itself.

A spokesman from the Lincoln Council of Churches told the protesters that "the Council is interested in the situation, and its interest is in maintenance of peace and quiet, and in seeking an attitude of good will and neighborliness by all persons."

Neighbors of the Negro family reported that a second family had moved into the same house, but the family told The Star that the only other person in their home was a cousin visiting from out of state.

The protesters also reported at the meeting that other Negro families had been looking at vacant houses in the neighborhood and protested that realty values would fall.

After the meeting had disbanded, the attorney reported that "the matter is practically resolved."

City Penalties In City Cases, Judge Decides

Municipal Court Judge Richard O. Johnson said Monday that he had decided to invoke city ordinance penalties on persons convicted of traffic violations in Lincoln.

In the past he had been undecided whether to employ city ordinance or state statute penalties in the cases which appear before him. Judge Johnson hears only city complaints filed under city ordinances.

The judge said that since Lincoln is a home-rule city he believes that so long as city ordinances do not conflict with the state statutes he believes it proper to employ the city penalties.

Two Main Offenses

The two offenses mainly involved are drunken driving cases and those cases involving persons convicted of driving while their driver's license is under suspension.

The state statute penalties call for mandatory penalties in each case for persons convicted: a $100 fine and six-month license suspension in drunken driving cases and 30 days in jail and an additional driver's license suspension of one year for suspended license violators.

Judge Johnson has said in the past he believes the suspended license penalty is too strict in some cases.

Under city ordinances, drunken drivers may be fined $100 and/or given a six-month jail term and also given a six-month license suspension. Persons convicted of driving on suspended licenses may be fined up to $100 and/or given a six-month jail term (no additional license suspension is provided under city ordinances).

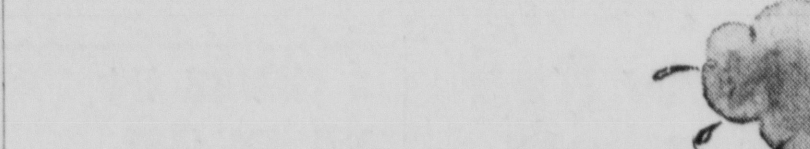

On Jan. 20th Judge Johnson first invoked the city ordinance penalty by fining a youth convicted of driving on a suspended license $50. On Monday the judge fined Arwin Lee Neemann, 19, of 1406 No. 21st, $100 and sentenced him to 10 days in jail on the same charge. The judge noted it was Neemann's second conviction. Neemann, who had pleaded innocent, appealed the verdict to Lancaster District Court.

School, Grainary Fires Only Minor

Only minor damage resulted Monday from two fires at a Lincoln school and a local grain elevator.

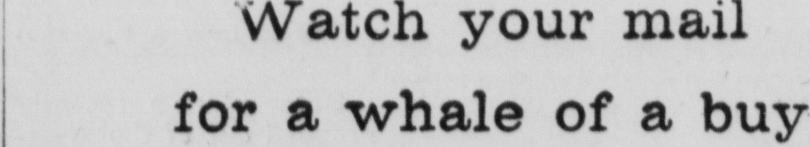

About 550 youngsters at the College View School at 46th and Bancroft were evacuated when a minor fire was started in the school boiler room by flames from workmen who were cleaning a roof drain.

The fire was quickly extinguished. Also quickly put out was a butane fire at the Equity Union Grain Co. at 940 Calvert, which broke out Monday afternoon.

State Fair For '57 Nets $25,000

The 1957 Nebraska State Fair made about $25,000 profit and drew an all-time estimated attendance record of 305,000 persons, according to Fair Board Secretary Ed Schultz, who released his annual report Monday.

The $25,000 made by the fair proper compares with a loss of about the same amount on the 1956 fair (although the 1956 horse-racing program more than made up the loss). The attendance figure was up about 45,000 admissions from the 1956 figure of 260,000 and it noted out the previous record of 304,000 set in 1954.

Fair Board President H. Clare Clement of Ord, Neb., in his annual report, termed the 1957 Nebraska fair "one of the best fairs of the 1957 season."

Education First

Clement said he likes to think of the fair as "first being educational, a help to those in search of better farming methods. It is my belief that the 1957 fair was such a fair and that those that attended were well repaid for their time and effort." Exhibits, he said, were at an all-time high in number and quality.

Schultz, in his report, recommended that "in view of conditions . . . no major construction be planned for the fall of 1958 or the spring and summer of 1959. It is my suggestion that we allow what funds we have available for construction to be held in reserve for at least one or two years allowing your board to study what will be the actual needs."

Expenses Noted

Schultz said that about $280,000 remains to be paid off on the new $464,000 coliseum which was completed just in time for the 1957 fair. He noted also that an expansion of the racetrack from one-half to five-eighths of a mile (five furlongs) is under way. This, he said, will cost between $40,000 and $50,000 (including the moving of barns and construction of new jockey quarters).

Receipts during 1957, Schultz reported, totaled $734,535.09 and expenditures amounted to $706,930.64. Balance on hand Jan. 1st was $37,603.69 (compared with $9,491.72 on Jan. 1, 1957). There is now $20,000 in the "emergency fund," he added.

A total of $50,621.35 was paid out in 1957 fair premiums. Parimutuel race expenses totaled $265,946.56 (including $175,199.88 in purses) and receipts amounted to $438,987.88. Receipts during 1956 totaled $417,355.55.

Roger V. Dickeson, general chairman, discussed the procedures of the drive, and advance gifts chairman Charles A. Roberts said the pledges already received were "highly encouraging." Dr. J. Melvin Boykin, special gifts chairman, and Victor R. Seymour, head of general gifts, reported progress in their divisions.

The drive will last another two weeks.

If you filed a 1956 federal income tax return and if there has been little or no change in your financial situation since, preparing your return for 1957 should be a breeze — IF you kept a good, clear copy of last year's statement.

Even taxpayers whose income status has changed should find their last year's 1040 or 1040A form a good guide in moving right ahead with the 1957 version. The forms for 1957 taxes are little changed in form and are figured on the same tax rates and regulations as last year.

The Internal Revenue Service reminds taxpayers that tax forms and records must be preserved for at least three years from the deadline date, April 15, in case of any question concerning a return should arise.

This year, as in the past three years, the IRS is stressing the self-help system in income tax filing. Essentially, self-help means that taxpayers should complete as much of their returns as possible before

Law Would Require Bedfast On 1st Floor

. . . Of Local Nursing Homes

A city ordinance amendment requiring that non-ambulatory patients in nursing or boarding homes be kept on the first floor was introduced Monday before the City Council.

The ordinance will come up for final reading and public hearing on Feb. 10.

The ordinance, proposed by the City-County Health Department, would bring the city health code into conformity with state regulations.

It provides that when an attending physician of an inmate of a nursing or boarding home has made determination in writing that such inmate is bedfast or helpless, Service. Most taxpayers, the IRS states firmly, can do the whole job by themselves after a careful reading of the form itself and its accompanying instruction booklet.

The IRS, with its dozen offices in Nebraska, is still available to help those who actually need help. Officials recommend telephone assistance for taxpayers with a problem or two to aid in giving quick answers. Office assistance will be available where required but will entail considerably more of the taxpayer's time.

An important factor in seeking telephone or office assistance is to have all 1957 financial records in hand and all necessary facts in mind. A warning to the procrastinator: IRS telephone lines are jammed and offices are crowded as the April 15 deadline draws near. The district IRS office (where all tax returns are sent) is at Omaha. Local offices in Nebraska are located at Lincoln, Grand Island, Norfolk, North Platte, Scottsbluff, Sidney, O'Neill, McCook, Beatrice, Falls City and Nebraska City. Tax assistance is available on Mondays during regular office hours.

McElroy Says Joint Chiefs Doing Good Job Of Planning

... Cites Too Many Committees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense McElroy says the Joint Chiefs of Staff are doing a good job of planning for any military emergency and of projecting defenses 10 years ahead.

McElroy's defense of the Joint Chiefs system—which has been under fire in Congress in connection with the Russian missile and satellite advances—was made before the Senate Preparedness subcommittee.

The subcommittee released Monday night censored versions of testimony given by McElroy and Deputy Secretary Donald A. Quarles in closed sessions Jan. 22.

Quarles testified the Russians are ahead of the United States in equipment for their ground forces.

McElroy told the senators there seemed to be a good deal of doubt that the Joint Chiefs—three of whom operate individual services while being charged with over-all planning—had been doing any long-range military planning. The chairman of the Joint Chiefs serves as military adviser to the Secretary of Defense.

U.S. Force Is Pledged By Dulles

... Baghdad Pact

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — John Foster Dulles pledged to anxious Baghdad Pact allies Monday that the United States stands ready to strike back against aggression to save the Middle East from "the scourge of invasion."

The U.S. Secretary of State spoke in a flag-draped hall with delegates assembled for the opening meeting of the pact's Council of Ministers.

After hearing a call from leaders of Turkey, Iran, Iraq and Pakistan for more and urgent aid to combat communism, Dulles declared:

Authorized

"In relation to the Middle East, the Congress has authorized the President to use armed forces to assist any nation or group of nations in the Middle East—and the Baghdad Pact constitutes such a group—requesting assistance against armed aggression by any country controlled by international communism."

"The Baghdad Pact group of countries can be confident that (U.S.) mobile power of great force would, as needed, be brought to bear against any Communist aggression."

"And by the same token any such potential aggressor knows in advance his losses from aggression would far exceed any possible gains. This is an effective deterrent to aggression and a guarantee of peace."

But he warned the allies they must have their own "forces of national defenses."

Turks And British Fight Cyprus Duel On Isle Partition

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Thousands of Turkish demonstrators fought a 90-minute battle against British troops and police Monday night to press their demands for partition of this British island colony.

Authorities said four persons were killed and a woman and two Turkish youths were injured seriously during the rioting.

Monday night's clash was the second violent outburst of the day. Earlier, Turkish Cypriots battled police and security forces in Ataturk Square, in the heart of the Turkish sector of Nicosia.

A curfew was put on the Turkish section of the city but Monday night thousands of Turkish residents defied the ban and carried out the new demonstrations. They set fire to the island's largest civilian garage and gasoline station and took up positions on the ancient walls of the old city to prevent fire engines and ambulances from getting through.

The rioters held out against repeated charges of baton-swinging security forces. Police and troop reinforcements were called up. In a surge of tear gas and flying stones and bottles, the Turks finally were thrown back from their positions. But they continued to fight as they retreated.

Son, 28, Sought In Mom's Slaying

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A woman's mutilated head, wrapped in a sheet and placed in a paper sack, was found Monday by a group of children playing in a Catholic church here.

Police, who also found personal papers in the bag, later broke into the locked home of Mrs. E. W. Burns, 56, and discovered her headless body lying in a pool of blood on the kitchen floor.

Clyde Grigsby, chief of detectives, said Bobby Joe Burns, 28-year-old son of the dead woman, was being sought.

Grigsby said police records show Burns once was a mental patient at State Hospital.

—Big Six Agencies—

Probers Promise No Whitewash

... And No Witch Hunt

WASHINGTON (AP) — A house inquiry into the "Big Six" government regulatory agencies got underway Monday with pledges by investigators that it will not be a whitewash.

At the same time the probers served notice they will not conduct any witch hunt and will not be pressured into hurrying a key phase of the inquiry — an airing of reports that members of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) improperly accepted favors from broadcasters.

Chairman Harris (D-Ark) of the Commerce Committee declared that if there has been any corruption "or even impropriety" the probers "will find it out and act accordingly."

But Harris stood firm on a decision by the subcommittee holding the hearings that the first three days will be devoted to a general review of the agencies' activities with consideration of the FCC affair postponed until next Monday.

Could Come Earlier

The matter could come to a head earlier, however. FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer — who already has called the allegations against commission members inaccurate and misleading — is scheduled to testify Wednesday morning and might bring up the subject himself.

The inquiry is supposed to determine whether the six agencies are being run in the way Congress intended when it set them up. Besides FCC, the agencies are the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, the Federal Power Commission, the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Rep. Flynt (D-Ga) said in one of several opening statements by subcommittee members that efforts have been made by "outside pressure" to alter the conduct of the probe — that is, to air the FCC charges first.

Ike To Attend K.C. Funeral Of Brother

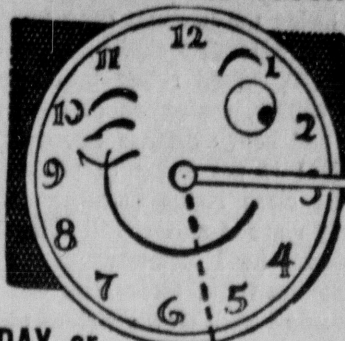

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said Monday night President Eisenhower plans to attend the funeral of his brother, Arthur, in Kansas City Wednesday.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said final details of the President's trip will be announced Tuesday. Hagerty said "I would think" the President would leave Washington early Wednesday for the services.

They will be held at 2 p.m. (EST) at the Stine & McClure Chapel. Entombment will be in New York City, but the Stine & McClure Chapel said the site had not been selected.

Eisenhower, 71, oldest brother of the President, died Sunday after suffering a heart attack at his home. He had been a banker here for more than 50 years before his retirement in November, 1936.

The National Debt

The House last week voted decisively to permit lifting the national debt ceiling temporarily from $275 to $280 billion. It was an expected action. A nation riding the ragged edge of a debt ceiling, confronted at the same time with new and heavy defense demands necessary for survival is not going to prefer oblivion or a second class status to some added debt. The chances are America will alter the debt limit whenever need dictates.

Statesmen and economists can go on at considerable length on the virtues of a debt ceiling, but the average man on the street sees such resolutions as carrying but small practical discipline. They are only directives to go no farther than a certain point unless necessary. And it generally becomes necessary.

There was a time in the depressed 'thirties when the debt ceiling was $50 billion. As the necessities of the depression pushed the debt nearer and nearer to the limit there was a sizable element who believed the imminent fracture would somehow bring the whole nation tumbling down. But when the critical moment arrived the debt limit simply gave way and life went on. Since that time the Congress has been active shifting the debt ceiling. It was raised to $300 billion during World War II. It was reduced to $275 billion in June 1946. Then it was put back up to $281 billion in 1955-56, then back to $278 billion in 1956-57. Last July it was re-located at $275 billion. Now it is about to be pushed up to $280 billion.

The past gives no evidence that the pending readjustment will be the last one. If it says anything it is to the effect that there will be more, and that the debt will generally expand rather than contract.

Remedy Too Simple

Walter Reuther, head man of the United Auto Workers has offered his own novel solution for national depressions and unbalanced economies. He has suggested that industrial corporations reserve everything over 10 per cent of their net capital for redistribution to the consuming public—in the case of automobile manufacturers, a year-end profit sharing bonus to the workers, plus a rebate to everyone who bought a new car that year.

Without going into the details of a plan the nation is unready to accept now or perhaps never he advances the argument that depressions and economic injustice occur when the consumer lacks the money to keep pace with the output of an improving and expanding national product. There would never be a depression if consumers were kept resupplied with money.

We might add that there would never be a corporate bankruptcy or any personal loss of wealth if everyone were periodically resupplied with money.

Baghdad Pact Meet

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

What can be hoped for out of the conference of the five-nation Baghdad Pact in regard to a stronger position for the West in the Middle East battleground is highly speculative. The importance with which the United States views this combine of friendly nations is evidenced in the presence at the conference of American Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. The Russians have spent less time in attempting to disrupt this meeting than they did in trying to undermine the last North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Paris. However, there is no particular good news in that as Russia's aims in the Middle East are well known without the aid of any announcements at this time.

If all things were in his favor, it would still be doubtful how much Dulles could accomplish in view of his popularity in the Middle East area. The saving factor here is that while Dulles personally may not be any man of the hour in Turkey, he still represents the U.S., the only major source of hope for freedom on the part of Baghdad Pact members. But what he faces in addition to his own standing abroad is the U.S. Congress in just the opening of a new session. He will have to deal with nations which are now weighing attractive offers from Russia while he has no assurance of where this country will be in the months ahead in the matter of foreign aid. This is the one area of U.S. defense where the all-out sentiment has not prevailed. While the administration has made a stand in favor of an expanded foreign aid program, the plan has already taken a lot of abuse in Congress. Undoubtedly, there will be a program of some kind but at this point it is a most intangible thing to work with. There can be little hope for much else out of the Baghdad Pact meeting than a renewed declaration of western goals.

The American people will probably be reading a great deal in the weeks and months ahead about conflicts of interests, special interests, pressure groups, etc. News accounts dealing with these subjects will be setting forth events as they unfold before a special House Commerce subcommittee. The subcommittee will be studying the operation of the federal government's six regulatory agencies—the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Federal Communications Commission, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Federal Power Commission, the Federal Trade Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Good government on any level requires honesty on the part of those in office—honesty stemming from conscience, not man-made laws. But it is questionable sometimes if too much emphasis is not placed on matters of personal interest—emphasis that frequently leads to condemnation of the innocent and little in the way of re-approach for the guilty. Activities that are looked upon as a normal part of the business world are frowned upon in the world of government. For a man to enter into government service today seems to require perhaps too much sacrifice. It is a sacrifice to begin with to place one's self in the public eye where every action and every decision is subject to criticism from all points. In public life you become public property and as such have surrendered the freedom of decision and choice enjoyed in private business. It could not be any other way and work with much satisfaction but conditions could be improved in some areas.

There should be a limit to the amount of financial sacrifice an individual has to make to serve the public's welfare. If the House subcommittee is going to perform a worthwhile service it had better concern itself with what can be done to bring men into public life with the least amount of personal financial loss. There will be nothing gained from an inquiry which simply turns up a few facts such as an FCC officer who was given a television set for Christmas by an FCC licensed operator. In all of government, a great deal of study needs to be given to interests coincidental with public life as opposed to interests dependent upon public life.

DREW PEARSON

Not All Voted To Quash FCC Report

WASHINGTON — Three potent Republicans have just been hired by the Haitian government to handle its public relations, especially in the matter of the murder of an American citizen. They are:

John Roosevelt, youngest son of the late president and only Republican member of the family. Retainer: $150,000.

Charlie Willis, son-in-law of Harvey Firestone of the Firestone Rubber co. and a former White House aide to President Eisenhower. Retainer: $50,000.

Douglas Whitlock, formerly of the Republican National Committee staff and organizer of the Eisenhower campaign train in 1952. Retainer: $50,000.

Wesley Roberts, former chairman of the Republican National Committee who was dropped after an expose of his lobbying activities in Kansas, is also doing some work for the Haitians, but not directly. He is working for his former assistant, Whitlock.

Chief work of this battery of high-placed Republicans at the moment is to soften the State Department's demands on Haiti for proper compensation, apology, and punishment for the brutal murder of an American citizen, Shibley Talamas.

Talamas learned the police wanted him for questioning and checked in at the police station in Port-Au-Prince, whereupon he was brutally beaten to death.

What made the murder worse was the fact that the American consul, knowing the trigger-happy habits of Haitian police, had secured advance assurances that Talamas would not be mistreated. When his body was found next day, it was a mass of bruises from the neck down.

Haitian military strong-arm man Antonio Kerebau, the real man behind the Haitian government, upheld the Haitian police, claimed Talamas died of a heart attack while resisting arrest.

Secretary Dulles, however, has made strong demands that the Talamas family be compensated and that the guilty be punished. He is threatening to cut off economic aid to Haiti until these demands are fulfilled.

It's the present job of the three-high-placed Republicans to soften Dulles's wrath. Willis and Whitlock have talked to the State Department, suggesting that the Haitian government merely apologize, pay no indemnity. John Roosevelt has suggested the same thing.

John informed this column that he also advised the Haitian government: "Your economic future is dependent on the good will of the United States."

Regardless of influential Republicans, the State Department is standing pat.

BATTLE FOR TRUTH

It was not true, as officially announced, that the Moulder committee decided unanimously to suppress the secret memo charging members of the Federal Communications Commission with taking gifts and free trips from the radio-TV industry. Here is the real story of what happened.

After this column published the verbatim text of pertinent parts of the secret memo, Chairman Moulder, Missouri Democrat, spoke to several members of his committee, and all agreed there was no longer any point in keeping the memo confidential.

After the 6-to-5 vote against releasing the secret memo, Moulder wanted to make it clear that it had been suppressed by a majority vote. But other congressmen wouldn't support him. The final press release dishonestly stated that it was the "unanimous" decision of the committee to suppress the report. The vote on this was 8 to 0, with three congressmen not voting.

Soviets Figure Nixon's The Man

WASHINGTON — The Soviet ambassador paid his official farewell call on Vice President Nixon last Friday by deliberate choice, not because of a White House rebuff, Nixon explained blandly that M. Zoroubin had made the switch because he was aware of "the President's heavy schedule."

Last Friday the President had one appointment: The cabinet at 9 a.m. The day before he had one: To say farewell at 9 a.m. to Sir Percy Spender, Australian ambassador to the United States, who is also leaving his post shortly. There was no Thursday press conference; the Eisenhower did entertain that night at dinner for Speaker Rayburn.

It is improbable that these highly representative facts would bring a blush of embarrassment to Zoroubin's cheek; if he could be embarrassed he wouldn't be a Communist. He must get credit for lack of hypocrisy about the meeting, however; he didn't say he was just calling on an old pal or a social acquaintance.

Instead he said he didn't know Nixon and had arranged the meeting through an intermediary, Rep. Patrick J. Hillings of California. He also disclosed that he discussed substantive matters with Nixon and gave clues to what they were.

The Zoroubin visit shows that while the men in Moscow choose to discuss the United States publicly in tattered cliches, their political intelligence, like their science, is perfectly capable of grasping the hard realities of today's world. The Soviet ambassador should of course know this particular vice president and be able to form some idea of what makes him tick. Any ambassador here who does not is not getting around enough. His principal job is to discover the sources of power, real and potential, and cultivate them.

Zoroubin also seems to be aware that the political dynamism of today's Washington centers on Capitol Hill and that what the White House is attempting is largely a holding operation. It is clear by now that the Russian talent for looking into the future must not be underestimated.

The administration programs of profound international importance to friend and foe are mutual aid and reciprocal trade. Only a bipartisan political operation of the most delicate and skillful kind will save them in anything like the form in which they are proposed. In that operation Nixon must play a key role. The Russians, who like to see American international operations fail, are naturally interested in his capabilities. It is possible Zoroubin thought he would do a little probing in this area or even attempt to dull Nixon's zeal for his "peaceful purposes" act.

Significantly, Zoroubin's successor here will be Mikhail A. Menshikov, a Soviet expert on trade. It is another signpost pointing to Soviet plans for increased economic penetration of the uncommitted areas of the world.

The vice president sought to achieve an air of modesty about the Zoroubin visit, which was difficult since he is very naturally elated at any development tending to strengthen him in the area of his greatest weakness as a candidate for president. This is his lack of international experience. He conceded it was his first official farewell from an ambassador.

BOB CONSIDINE

Young Took Dim View Of The U.S.

NEW YORK — R. R. Young was carried north from Palm Beach, dead by his own hand, in the private car that symbolized his legendary success.

The car has a handsome dining room, private bedrooms and baths, a drawing room with deeply upholstered furniture, a fine old brass-railed observation platform, a speedometer on the wall that once told the tycoon how fast it was he traveled about his railroad empire. This was the funeral caisson of the tense and dedicated little man who once worked as a 28-cent-an-hour laborer and died in the billiards room of a 25-room Palm Beach mansion built by Addison Mizner.

I had a strange and abortive interview with Young a few years ago at the Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. His company—Chesapeake and Ohio, then—owned that fabled resort. The one-time laborer who had battled and sometimes defeated Wall Street had just finished a round of golf with his good friend, the Duke of Windsor. He epitomized the American Success Story.

The interview ended after one question. I asked him what advice he would give to a young man starting out today as broke as he himself had been at the dawn of his spectacular career.

Young regarded me at length and then said, in an icy blue manner, "I would advise him to leave the United States and seek his fortune in almost any other country. Opportunity has died here." And with that he turned and was gone.

A good friend of mine who did public relations for Young begged me to forget the whole thing . . . and I did, until the headlines recalled the bitter brew that a poor boy had found in the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

Today they came—a neat little package of colored slides taken last summer. There was the picnic on the Blue River just as everyone was half hidden behind a thick slice of watermelon. Never has watermelon looked so pink and tempting, nor Blue Jeans so satisfied. Nostalgia ran high as we viewed the fishing scene . . . the grassy bank with little splashes of light and shadow where the sunlight filtered through the tree branches and the lazy blue-green stream ebbed into the distance. . . . "That's the day I lost one of my best sinkers," remarked Blue Jeans.

We marveled at the beauty of our own yard . . . the feathery emerald green of the tamarack with a pink mist of delicate flowers arching over the picket fence. We decided we were not fully aware of the beauty when we had so much about us. Now that there is no color to the landscape except the black and white and grays, we appreciate a bright flash of color via the color slides. We vow that this spring will be different. We will gather in the beauty as we see it just as a bee gathers nectar, and store the rest until our very souls are filled with it. Then we will not have to say half apologetically, "My eyes were blind to lovely things . . ."

There was the little girl about as big as a minute, posed with her doll against a backdrop of Heavenly Blue morning glories. A bit of heaven showed in her eyes, too, as she tried her best to look every inch a mother to her doll. Her crisp organdy dress stood out like that of a fairy princess and her golden curls caught every sunbeam.

We almost found ourselves fanning our faces as we saw the picture of The Farmer stuck with the plow in the field. It was just, before harvest on a very sultry day when The Farmer finished plowing the "soil bank" land. He wanted to plow through the draw rather than turn around in the middle of the field, but the tractor didn't. Since it had been a season of much rain, the ground was saturated far more than it looked from the surface after a week of drying conditions. But there he was, mired down deep in the squishy mud, and there was the neighbor boy pulling with his tractor at the end of a long cable.

"That was the hottest day of summer," interrupted The Farmer. "Worked all morning trying to dig myself out and couldn't get a breath of air down there in that lowland."

On and on we went, looking and commenting, enjoying and reliving the days that might otherwise have been forgotten. I suppose that is why pictures are so entertaining—the past gets in your eyes—picnics, fishing, and vacations . . . and blots out the troubled days . . .

You could tell that she was his favorite Valentine, for his eyes glistened each time her name was mentioned and he had that peculiar smile about the mouth although mum was the word. The secret was out the day he bought her the frilliest heart he could find at the corner drug store. It told of his love and she like the fairy queen accepted his token of adoration. She pledged her troth and vowed she would be true forever.

For awhile she looked at none other . . . she with the golden curls. And then quite suddenly it happened—she was false and changed her mind. It broke his heart when she promised to marry the boy down the street. Not only that, but he had lost his whole weekly allowance in buying the Valentine . . . for you see, he was only seven and she was half-past six.

Tonight the glint of jets was making exclamation marks across the sky with vapor trails. The sky itself was clean and clear as a freshly polished window glass. I watched them soar and dive, and secretly wished that I might be the one commanding the swift mechanical birds in graceful arcs across the horizon. To soar above the earth as free as the wind . . . to dart among the clouds and feel a part of the wild blue yonder where time and vastness fuse have held a strange fascination for me. I secretly admire each plot up there in his dialed cockpit, and follow him across the sky . . .

Citizens' Thanks

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Members of the Citizens' Committee wish to thank you for the care you spent in getting answers to our questions of the Jan. 20 issue, and for the space you gave to make those answers available to us. Upon this information we wish to ponder deeply.

In 1950 we the people paid out $50,000 to get a survey of the city made. Now, eight years later, it is proposed to pay out $30,000 more for the same purpose. The city has grown, we are told. And the city is still growing. Will there be call for another revision in 1966? And in 1972? and in 1980? A wing on Lincoln General Hospital could be built for around $100,000. So could a new library. A city-county courthouse could be well financed for the money that we seem about to spend for getting ourselves surveyed. Is this good business? We who have worked hard for a living through a long lifetime cannot feel that this expense is justified.

We submit that the big, bad wolf of deterioration in the far distant future does not deserve the "blood, sweat and tears" that are being demanded of us. Lincoln is situated on a broad, fertile prairie. It has room to expand as it grows. It has grown and is growing well on the basis of private enterprise.

But if we permit the government to become concentrated in the hands of a few, if the are empowered by law to work their will upon the homes and industries of the city against the wishes of the owners, can we expect continued improvement? Can we believe that this change from democratic to totalitarian government will foster initiative and progress? History encourages no such expectation.

As you have pointed out, governments reserve themselves the right of eminent domain, i.e., the right to appropriate private property for what somebody in the government calls the public good. The United States has exercised this right very sparingly, notably for such public utilities as railroads. The only country where government ownership and control is completely practiced is Soviet Russia. The conclusion is too obvious to need statement.

In a subsequent letter I hope to continue this discussion.

Industry Should Come

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: This is the first letter of this type I have ever written but I would really like to get something off my mind. I truly wonder if the people here in Lincoln realize what they are doing. We have lived here off and on for ten years and there have been numerous complaints, petitions, and committees fighting new industry or plants that want to build here. One was in the paper today. The older and well-established people want Lincoln as it is, I guess, but do they realize that with unemployment increasing that the only way to keep Lincoln a thriving city is to build or it will just be a city of college students and retired people. A new shopping district was proposed for a few few blocks from us and the way people fought it you'd think they wanted to build a stockyards there. I know I don't write well but I wish someone could make these people understand what will happen if they don't invite new industry here and help Lincoln grow. It would be of benefit to everyone.

Anderson Again Nixes Special Session

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Victor Anderson turned down Monday, for the second time, a request for a special session of the Legislature as requested by Sen. Terry Carpenter, chairman of the Legislative Committee on Tax Law Violations.

Carpenter had first asked the governor to call a special session

Nov. 18 and that request was renewed Dec. 18 when a majority of Carpenter's committee approved the request for a special session to revise Nebraska's tax laws.

Gov. Anderson had told Carpenter on the first request that he would poll the members of the Legislature to determine whether they favored or opposed a special session and the resulting poll showed 29 opposed and 11 favoring a special session.

In a letter to Carpenter mailed Monday, Gov. Anderson said, "The agenda contained in your second letter of request is substantially the same as was contained in your original request which was given to the senators at the time of taking the poll."

'Not Justified'

"In view of the circumstances," the governor continued, "I do not feel justified in calling a special session of the Legislature."

The governor noted in his letter that the mechanics exist for the senators to call themselves in-

—Arnold Controversy— Rogers Lauds Medical Assn. Unit's Effort

Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health director, Monday commended the professional relations committee of the Nebraska Medical Assn. for the "quantity and quality of the effort it went to" in resolving the Arnold hospital-doctor controversy.

The attorney general's office, at Dr. Rogers' request, recently reviewed the files resulting from an investigation by that committee.

Dr. Rogers had asked the review to ascertain whether grounds existed for summoning Dr. E. Harold Reeves, central figure in the Arnold controversy, to a license revocation hearing. The attorney general's office reported it found no such grounds.

Dr. Rogers reported Monday he has been assured personally by Dr. Reeves that the doctor has left the Arnold community and will never go back.

The Arnold community is left with the problems of obtaining doctors and of keeping its hospital open, Dr. Rogers said. The two other doctors who have been serving the community have said they also plan to leave.

Anderson Says Carpenter's Proposals 'Not An Emergency'

By NANCY BENJAMIN
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Victor Anderson received rousing applause from the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers Monday when he criticized recent actions of State Sen. Terry Carpenter and announced he would not call a special session of the Legislature.

The governor called Carpenter's most recent appeal for a special session on tax issues "substantially the same as I turned down three weeks ago."

"To do any good this year, legislation would have to be in effect by March 1," Gov. Anderson explained. "This would mean a rush session and emergency laws."

"The bad laws passed in Nebraska are the ones rushed through. I know, because I've vetoed some of them," he told the fair officials. "I can see no emergency in any of them," he added referring to Carpenter's 27 proposals on tax problems. "His ideas could be discussed and passed upon at the next regular session of the Legislature."

'All But 3 Hokum'

Anderson commented on three of Sen. Carpenter's 27 suggestions for tax legislation, and said "all the rest are the same hokum." The three the governor singled out were:

—Raising the tax commissioner's salary from $10,000 to $20,000 annually. Anderson commented that "we don't pay our officials that kind of money."

—Raising the tax rate on bank intangibles. The governor pointed out that "this is just peanuts in the overall tax picture."

—Repealing the grain tax law. Anderson stated that "we ought to give this law a chance to be tried out before we repeal it."

Quips On Publicity

The governor also quipped to the audience on Sen. Carpenter's "recent front page publicity", commenting that "first it was his tax investigation which made headlines for about 10 days until the press tired of it... then the request for a special session, and after that he took off on Ak-Sar-Ben and the chancellor." (Chancellor Clifford Hardin of the University of Nebraska.) "Now he needs a new issue."

Gov. Anderson restated his opinion that "Operation Honesty" must be enforced on a county level "so that honest taxpayers are not paying more than their fair share."

He added that "our tax laws are not perfect, and there are plenty of changes to be made—but not in just one session."

Anderson also reviewed the present road conditions in the state, total of 29 senators indicate they favor such a session, it is mandatory that one be held.

At the press conference announcing his decision, Gov. Anderson was asked if the special session pointing out the need for the one-cent gas tax hike.

'Making Progress'

"We are making progress," he said, "but not as fast as you or I would like." He added that hard surfacing of the state's present 4,000 miles of gravel surfaces "will do the most toward cutting down maintenance costs" and lowering the need for gas taxes.

The association, meeting in conjunction with the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture, opened meetings Monday with a registration of 224. More than 300 are expected to attend final sessions Tuesday and Wednesday, which include an address by Jake Isaacson, general manager of Ak-Sar-Ben.

Commenting on the present feud between Sen. Carpenter and Ak-Sar-Ben over making public the records of Ak-Sar-Ben facility use to determine if the institution should be placed on tax roles, Fair Managers President Joe Bender of Weeping Water said that "I'll wait till Isaacson gives us the whole story."

One State Fair Board member, Irving McArdle of Omaha stated he believed "anyone should be able to take a look at the financial records." McArdle is a member of Ak-Sar-Ben and a stockholder. Other convention delegates generally sided with Ak-Sar-Ben over the issue.

was now a closed issue and he replied he was "always open" on such a request in the event "anything new" should develop.

Anderson said it is his belief that the "general feeling now" is that "accurate returns" will be requested.

"We're going to insist on it," Gov. Anderson continued, adding, "everybody's going to be on the same basis."

He said it will be up to "local" authorities to enforce the laws requiring accurate returns.

Demos Criticize 4-Year Education Plan

IKE OFFERS SPACE-AGE PROGRAM

By ALVIN SPIVAK
WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower sent to Congress Monday a four-year, billion dollar program to help U.S. education meet space-age challenges and legislation was introduced to implement his proposals, which some Democrats assailed as inadequate.

The chief executive declared science training must be bolstered "in the interest of national security." He said his plan, highlighted by 40,000 federal scholarships in the next four years, is "sound," with "state, local and private effort" as its keystone.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Marion B. Folsom asserted in a statement citing the critical need for scientists, engineers and teachers to help the U.S. keep pace with Russia that "the survival of our freedom may well be at stake in the nation's classrooms."

Objectives Praised
William G. Carr, executive secretary of the National Education Association, praised the program's objectives but said he thought the President had "greatly underestimated what needs to be done and what the American people are willing and eager to do."

Carr complained that Mr. Eisenhower asked "a small amount of money for specific purposes over a short period of time," while the NEA seeks "larger amounts for broad purposes over longer periods."

Rep. Kerns (R-Pa.), introduced in the house a bill which would write the President's recommendations into law. Sen. Smith (R-N.J.) will introduce a similar bill in the senate Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) called for more expansive legislation to attack the school problem "at its roots." He said he would introduce a bill to provide one and one-half billion dollars for school construction, to be spent in the next five years.

Rayburn Comments
House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) said he was not sure "how deep Congress will put its teeth" into the president's program. House GOP leader Martin (Mass.) called Mr. Eisenhower's plan "a good approach." He praised its "scrupulous" avoidance of federal controls.

Besides 10,000 federal scholarships a year—averaging $705 to $800 each—for the next four years, highlights of the President's proposals included:

—Matching grants to states to improve methods for reducing "a waste of needed talent" reflected in failure of many youths to graduate from high school.

—Similar grants to "improve and expand" science and mathematics teaching by providing more teachers, better pay and better equipment.

—A total of 5,500 graduate fellowships over four years "to encourage more students to prepare for college teaching careers," with federal grants on a matching basis to college and university graduate schools.

—Creation of "special centers in colleges and universities" for foreign language courses and aid to institutions already engaged in such work.

—A "five-fold increase in appropriations for the scientific education activities of the National Science Foundation" to construct what the President called "a firm base for the education of our future scientists."

Clark Again Heads YMCA

Ken Clark was re-elected president of the YMCA Monday. Newly-elected are Ralph Tyler Jr., second vice president, and Don Harrington Jr., secretary.

Charles Thorne was re-named first vice president and Robert Magee, treasurer.

Named to three-year terms on the board of directors were William Ammon, R. S. Cederdahl, John Edwards, Harrington, Ken Lawson, Magee, Jack Wells and Stanley Wentz.

Harry Ankeny and Guy Chambers were elected to four-year terms on the board of trustees.

Serving on the West Central Area Council will be Elmer Magee and Wendell Groth, three-year terms, and Andrew Morrow, Maurice Hyde and John R. Johnson, one-year terms.

Roberto Sues Ingrid For Annulment

ROME (INS)—Rome civil court records disclosed Monday that Italian film director Roberto Rossellini formally sued actress Ingrid Bergman for annulment of their broken marriage. She did not contest the action.

The Rossellini suit was based on the grounds that the Swedish-born beauty was not free to marry him on May 24, 1950 because at the time she was still legally linked to her first husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom.

Miss Bergman's attorney stated that "she doesn't deny the fact" and "submits herself to the court's ruling and jurisdiction" so far as legal points are concerned.

Separated
Neither Miss Bergman, 42, nor Rossellini, 51, who have been legally separated since Nov. 7, appeared in court.

She is now doing film work in London, and is represented by the legal firm of Ercole Graziadei. Rossellini last was reported in Paris.

The surprise action came in the same court where last November the couple was given a separation ending their seven and one-half year marriage. The cause of the separation was given as "incompatibility of character."

Their romance began in 1949 while he was directing her in the film Stromboli on an island off the Italian coast.

Elgin Reports $969,000 Loss On Total Operation During '57

ELGIN, Ill.—Elgin National Watch Co. reported Tuesday a $969,224 net operating loss on net sales of $26,064,905 during the 40 weeks ended Dec. 7, 1957.

The loss compares with net earnings of $517,268 on net sales of $33,882,962 during the same 40 weeks a year ago.

In addition to the loss, the company reported a $275,000 provision after tax credits covering estimated cost of closing its Wadsworth watch case plant at Dayton, Ky.

President J. G. Shennan said prospects for the watch division are improved through increased use of lower-cost imported movements and the planned consolidation of domestic watch production at the plant in Elgin, Ill.

The firm announced Jan. 14 its plans to close the Lincoln, Neb., plant which handled both watch and military production.

Company, Union To Meet
(Company and union officials are to meet in Lincoln Tuesday to discuss severance pay and moving allowance for Elgin workers. Up to 800 persons may be out of work by about Sept. 1 when Elgin completes closure of this plant.)

(Some personnel at the Lincoln plant have been offered positions at other Elgin plants.)

A $1½ million reserve is being established in the fourth quarter ending March 1 to cover costs of plant relocation and training of new personnel as a result of the Lincoln shutdown, according to the report from Elgin, Ill.

New Illinois Plant

The new program calls for occupation by Sept. 1 of a new plant leased at Palatine, Ill., for the microelectronics division.

Shennan said that division has "excellent" prospects for long-range growth in the missile and aircraft fields, while the electronics division expects increased demand for military relays.

Shennan, in announcing the net operating loss during the 40-day period, said results expected in the last half of the current fiscal year were adversely affected by the general decline in the national economy and by abrupt shifts in the military procurement program.

Dividend Dropped

He said the firm is dropping its quarterly dividend until earnings justify resumption. The rate had been reduced from 15 cents to 5 cents per share on the last dividend, paid Dec. 12.

In addition to the $1½ million reserve for cost of the Lincoln plant shutdown, a reserve of about $1 million will be set up in the fourth quarter to reduce inventories which may be excessive because of a sharp drop in sales.

Besides disposing of the Lincoln plant, the company plans to charge off about $1,400,000 in book value of watch machinery and equipment.

Reserves, writeoffs and operating losses will reduce both working

Byrd Asks A 3-Billion Debt Hike

... Replies To Anderson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) told the administration Monday he thinks it can get along with boosting the national debt limit three billion dollars instead of the five billion it asked.

After listening to two hours of testimony by Secretary of the Treasury Anderson, Byrd said he felt the administration "has not made a case" for temporarily raising the debt limit to 280 billion dollars.

He told Anderson to think over the suggestion and report back to the Senate Finance Committee on the idea later.

Makes Own Analysis

Byrd, who heads the Senate group, said he based his proposal on his own analysis of Treasury figures and told Anderson:

"Indications to me are that your request (for the 280 billion dollar ceiling) is not justified unless you contemplate a substantial deficit in the next fiscal year."

But the Democrat next in seniority on the finance committee, Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.), announced he thought the treasury secretary's debt limit request "is a reasonable one."

The two Democrats differed on the outlook for fiscal 1959, which starts this July 1.

Byrd said the administration obviously expects its position to improve in the new financial year because it was forecasting a surplus for that period.

Too Optimistic, Kerr Says

But Kerr said Byrd was being "unduly optimistic" in accepting the administration's figures. He maintained President Eisenhower's 1959 budget is "a glorified fiction" and said the government's financial situation in the next 18 months won't be as rosy as the president pictured.

NWU Student, Arapahoe Man Badly Injured

... In Cozad Crash

Lincoln Star Special
COZAD, Neb.—A Nebraska Wesleyan University student, Kwan Young Lee, 26, late Monday was listed as "improved but still serious" in a local hospital as a result of a two-car collision near here Sunday.

Lee, a pre-ministerial student, suffered a broken back, head and internal injuries, according to State Patrolman Donald Laudenklos of Gothenburg, who investigated.

Another Student Driving
Another Wesleyan student, Carol Peterson, 19, of Red Oak, Ia., was identified as the driver of the eastbound car in which Lee was riding. Peterson was released from the Cozad hospital Monday.

Duane Schafer, 40, of Arapahoe, driver of the northbound car involved, remained in "serious" condition late Monday. He suffered head and internal injuries.

Also hospitalized at Cozad was Robert Schafer, 2, who was treated for a broken collar bone, broken shoulder and dislocated pelvis. Mrs. Schafer and the Schafers' daughter, Nancy, eight-months-old, received injuries but did not require hospitalization.

Lee, who is from Incheon, Korea, was en route to the Cozad Methodist Church to deliver the morning sermon at the time of the accident. He and Peterson had spent the night at the home of one of the members of the congregation.

Pinned Under Wreckage

Patrolman Laudenklos reported Schafer was pinned under his car for about an hour after the impact. Peterson, the patrolman said, ran to a nearby farm house for help, and he and an unidentified farmer lifted the car off Schafer.

The Safety Patrol officer said the Schafer boy was thrown clear of the car. Lee was reportedly thrown 50 feet beyond the point of impact.

The accident occurred at a county road intersection, seven miles south and two miles west of Cozad, Patrolman Laudenklos said.

Best Friend

KERHONKSON, N.Y. (UP)—That best friend of man, his dog, cost Edward Smith, 43, his life, a coroner ruled.

Smith was found dead in his home, shot in the chest, a shotgun beside him. His fist was clutching bits of his dog's hair.

After an investigation, coroner Charles Rosenstock held the death was accidental. It occurred, he said, when Smith's dog leaped in his lap as he was cleaning his shotgun, knocking it from his hands and causing it to go off.

Dear, Abby . . .

Patience!

Abigail Van Buren

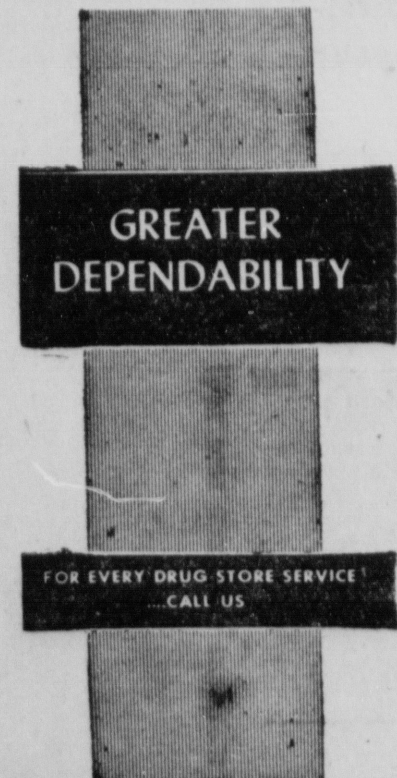

DEAR ABBY: I have been married 4 years and we have one child, 3 years old. My wife lost a baby last year and now she is pregnant again. It seems every time my wife gets pregnant she gets very absent-minded. I tell her something in the morning and she forgets it by noon! Another thing—she can't seem to hang onto anything! She drops dishes and breaks them left and right. Do you think this is due to her condition or what?

MARK
DEAR MARK: Pregnant women have been known to forget things—and also fumble. Try plastic dishes and a note pad on which to write down "things to remember." Be patient. She's carrying a heavier load than you.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with boys who go to a school dance, but they don't dance—they just stand around in bunches like bananas! A girl hates to go up and ask a fellow if he will dance with her because everybody's looking and if he refuses, you feel like a dope.

PATTI
DEAR PATTI: Girls who stand around in groups of eight and ten will never get asked to dance because boys are embarrassed to approach a girl with 16 or 20 eyes on him. Break it up into groups of twos and threes and see what happens. Good luck!

The Star In Suburbia

EASTRIDGE

Come what may, the high life in the Eastridge suburb never seems to slacken from week to week. There are a multitude of parties and events that share the social spotlight this morning, and included among them are coffees, teen-age whirls, birthday celebrations, bridge gatherings and courtesies for guests.

The younger generation takes its stand now as we learn of a frantic, frolicsome and festive Friday evening spent in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Wendt last week. Those on hand were a group of pre-teens in Eastridge and what fun they had playing records, dancing and chatting. Mark Wendt was the young host to his neighborhood lad and lassie friends.

An evening coffee was the event at the Bud Lambert home last Wednesday when Mrs. Lambert was hostess to a feminine group in the neighborhood. Guests invited to the affair were Mrs. Bob Wilson, Mrs. David McEntyre, Mrs. Morris Huelle, Mrs. Tom Tompkins, Mrs. Dick Stehly, Mrs. Duane Granski, Mrs. Dale McCracken, Mrs. Norman Stones, Mrs. LeRoy Ross, Mrs. Gene Lingenfelder, Mrs.

Roy Way, Mrs. Art Mapstead, Mrs. I. Moore and Miss Jo Brooks.

Off to Omaha last Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Orcutt and their daughter, Pamela, and the incentive for their trip was to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Orcutt. The threesome spent the day visiting relatives and friends.

A gala affair on Wednesday evening will be the dessert supper and bridge party for which the hostess will be Mrs. Robert Scott. The guest list will include Mrs. Richard Freeman, Mrs. Louis Gilbert, Mrs. George Scott, Mrs. Robert Kreyborg, Mrs. Fred Bockoven, Mrs. Lee Gartner and her mother, Mrs. D. Alvin Kime.

Recalling the guest list at the bridge party just mentioned reminds us that one of the members of the group—Mrs. D. Alvin Kime—has been in the Eastridge suburb for some time visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Lee Gartner and their children, Debbie and Jo. Mrs. Kime, who hails from Devon, Pa., will remain for an extended visit with the Gartners.

Mrs. Floyd Doughty and Mrs. Elwood Lahr were co-hostesses last Tuesday evening at a pink and blue shower to compliment Mrs. B. J. Procopio. Thirty feminine guests gathered in the Procopio home for the dessert supper and shower.

And it was last Saturday evening when Maj. and Mrs. Procopio and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Demma trekked to the Anthony Messineo home to enjoy a pizza party given by Mr. and Mrs. Messineo and their children.

Speaking of the Procopio family we also heard that Maj. and Mrs. Procopio and their children, Carla, Francis, Mark and Rebecca were hosts and hostesses recently when they entertained at a spaghetti dinner to compliment Col. and Mrs. G. D. Miller and their two daughters, Margaret Ann and Patricia Kay.

Another word—or two—from the younger generation before we close the Eastridge book of news this morning. Last Thursday was a thrilling day for the Cub Scouts, Den 1, Pack 42, who journeyed to the television either—Just learned that Mrs. James Chambers and Mrs. William Lawless are to be coffee hostesses next Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Lawless, when they entertain in farewell courtesy to Mrs. James E. Harvey. Twelve guests have been invited for the 10 o'clock party. Capt. and Mrs. Harvey and their son, Jimmy, will be leaving next month for Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio, where Capt. Harvey will be stationed at the Institute of Technology.

AND on Friday evening there are two exceedingly festive events—both of them for members of the young set—One is Northeast High School's Snowball dance—and the other is the Pius X High School's Crystal Ball.

BUT now back to our out of town news—This time the communique is from Rochester, Minn., and it tells of the arrival of a son, Daniel William, to Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Sherrick. Mrs. Sherrick is the former Jean Loudon, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Loudon, and Delta Gamma at the University of Nebraska.

Entertained Lookout Club

Mrs. Jerry Eickmeier was hostess to the members of the Lookout Extension Club on Tuesday afternoon when a lesson-demonstration on sewing new fabrics was given by Mrs. Rolie Burcham and Mrs. Harley Flader.

During the afternoon, each member donated to the polio fund.

The next meeting of the club will be held Feb. 18, at the home of Mrs. Byron Perkins.

Was Hostess To The Quill

Mrs. Harold Sandall was hostess on Tuesday evening at her home to the members of The Quill. The program included the reading of a story, "The Christmas Lie," which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post and was written by Dorothy Thomas, a former member of The Quill.

During the evening, the group also discussed plans for a program on Christmas stories to be held at the Feb. 18 meeting.

Beatrice Cheerleaders Honored

When the Beatrice High School basketball team came to town last Saturday to play Lincoln High, it was accompanied not only by a Beatrice cheering section—but also by the feminine cheerleaders.

As a courtesy to the Beatrice cheerleaders contingent the Lincoln High School cheerleaders entertained at dinner at the home of Miss Donita Rich. Following the informal dinner the group hurried to the game where each set of cheerleaders devoted its efforts to cheering on its team.

BSP Chapter Hears Speaker

The members of Kappa Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met Wednesday evenings at the chapter rooms to hear a talk on, "Contemporary Design," by Ted Butterfield.

Special guests at the meeting were Miss Mary Ann Hag, Miss Lutanna Markhan and Miss Florence Bodtke.

Republican Club To Meet

The annual business meeting of the Cornhusker Republican Women's Club will be held Friday morning in the lounge of the First Federal Bldg. Following a 10 o'clock coffee, Mrs. John Dean will preside at the meeting.

Honor Group Has Program

The members of Alpha Delta Kappa teachers honorary met for dinner Monday evening at the YWCA. Following the dinner, a program was presented by Miss Florence Clark, Mrs. Nettie Bailey and Miss Irene Williams.

Growers Told Wheat Smut Costly Disease

KEARNEY, Neb. — While loose smut of wheat is not a great problem, it is a pesty, costly disease demanding attention, those attending Crop Improvement Days were told here Monday.

LaMoine Brownlee of the University of Nebraska's Foundation Seed Division, made that statement adding that "we haven't a simple, easy method available for its control, but we do have a method. That is the water method using hot water, long soak or absence of free air."

"If certified wheat seed continues in demand in future seasons as was the case this fall, an organized program on the part of the producer would certainly manifest results," Brownlee continued. "By emphasizing smut free wheat along with quality wheat, maybe we could move from certified into the premium class."

Oops — Hearts Ahead!

Look at the date... we're nearing Valentine's Day! If you have a husband who sometimes forgets, here's a pleasant reminder: Start the day with a Valentine breakfast! Form your coffee-cake dough in a heart-shape. When it's baked, swish powdered-sugar icing over it, and quickly dot it with red cinnamon hearts before the frosting hardens. Might consider serving frozen strawberries or raspberries too!

Turning Tutor

A homemaker who'd like to take on outside interests has a real challenge today, as schools grow more crowded. Students who fall behind in class can be helped by special tutoring. Talk things over with your club (or organize a new group). Each member "bones up" on one or two subjects she used to be very good in. Then offer your services (free) through the school principal. You'll probably only spend four to six hours per week tutoring, yet your aid may save a youngster's grade.

Toting Half-Ton Trucks

Could you lift a truck? If you still lug wet clothes to a clothes line every washday, you may lift this much during one year! Your lucky neighbor who owns a gas clothes dryer simply tosses wet wash into it, sets the temperature... and her job is through! In short minutes, her clothes are fluffed and damp-dry, ready for ironing. Minutes more — and pieces are completely dry, ready to be folded and stored without ironing. You should go modern too! First step: A visit to your local gas company or gas appliance dealer.

Supper in the Kitchen

Recent survey says nearly 66 out of every 100 modern families eat most meals in the kitchen! This means both Mother and the kitchen must be geared for efficiency! If you'd like to plan a better-organized kitchen with modern "family room" atmosphere, there are free brochures waiting for you at your local gas company or gas appliance dealer. These "kitchen-planner" guides show you how to utilize all space to best advantage...and they tell you all about the newest gas appliances. Just ask for the folders...there's no obligation!

Ironing Note

Tip from a good friend of the column's — Mrs. Norbert Schumer of Elsie, Neb.: Some items just do get too dry, while you're ironing. A damp sponge, kept beside the board, will "touch up" the spots. The ironing sails along!

Storing Baby Food

Folks who make baby foods advise that you leave the food in its original container after you've opened and used part of it, because all baby food containers

Collapse Of Elevator Suit Is Continued

OMAHA (U) — The trial of a $1,100,000 lawsuit in Federal District Court Monday was continued to a later date and Judge John W. Delehant dismissed the jury which had already begun to hear evidence.

The suit involves the collapse of a Fargo, N.D., grain elevator. Dan Cross, one of the attorneys involved, said the continuance had been granted to permit additional evidence to be taken by deposition.

He said it would be necessary to select a new jury whenever the trial reconvenes.

Elevator Owner Joseph Eichinger is suing the Fund Insurance Co., the Home Insurance Co., and Omaha contractor Thomas J. Ryan in the June 11, 1955, collapse of the elevator.

The Commodity Credit Corp., to whom Eichinger owed $700,000, is an intervenor.

Meter Rate Hike Plans Are Shelved

OMAHA (U)—Mayor John Rosenblatt announced Monday the city administration has shelved plans for raising parking meter rates to 10 cents an hour.

It was the mayor's first action after returning from a trip to Hawaii.

Mayor Rosenblatt said he had thought it over on his trip and that he does not consider the raise necessary.

It had been opposed by associated Retailers of Omaha and the Downtown Omaha Assn.

The longest current basketball winning streak in Nebraska goes on the line Friday when Alma faces the last team to defeat it, Hastings St. Cecilia.

Almost a year ago, Alma had won 13 straight games and was riding on top in The Star's Class C ratings. St. Cecilia had an 11-1 record and was right behind in second place.

But the Hastings club routed Alma, 67-51. Alma rebounded, however, wound up the season with the Class C title and 11 more wins.

This year, Alma has added 12 straight victories to boast a 23-game string. Alma led in The Star's ratings early this year, but fell after a narrow overtime win over Class D Hildreth.

This week, Alma is rated fourth again, behind leading Seward Concordia, David City St. Mary's, and St. Cecilia.

Last year, St. Cecilia lost to Trenton in a district playoff, which in turn lost to Alma. Alma, Trenton, and St. Cecilia finished 1-2-3 in the ratings.

Both clubs have several boys back who played in that game last year. Harry Dowell is the new coach at Alma, and was greeted by six returning lettermen, headed by Les Howden, high-scoring 6-3 senior center.

Coach Jim Biglin at Hastings has only three lettermen back, but the big man is among them. He is high-scoring Jerry Sherman, averaging better than 25 point per game this year.

Class C remains the most stable of all the classes in this week's ratings. The top four and Pawnee City (No. 5) are unchanged from last week, while Pilger jumps into the top 10 at the sixth position after its upset of Howells last week.

Adding similarity to this year's meeting at Alma and the battle last year, the Blue Hawk record now is exactly the same, 11-1.

733 Series By Koehler

. . . Top Lincoln Bowling Mark Of Year

By RON SPEER
Star Sports Staff Writer

Bill Koehler didn't win a thing in the City Bowling Tournament when he bowled last week, and he didn't expect to do much Monday night.

He was suffering from a sore throat and a cold when he began to bowl with the 9th & L Drive-In team in the Classic League at Bowlmor on the 11th and 12th alleys.

Thirty frames later he was still sniffling with his irritating cold. But his ball was sizzling hot.

For the stocky bowling veteran had just rolled a 733 series, high in Lincoln for the year and the highest of Koehler's 11-year alley career.

Koehler didn't feel well enough to celebrate, but his teammates were a jubilant crew.

Ironically, Koehler was bowling in the same league with Bernie Kossek, and although Kossek rolled a fine 633 Koehler defeated the city champ by 100 pins.

After changing into street shoes, Koehler remarked that "I wasn't a bit nervous. I figure if I am going to get 'em I will, and if I'm not I won't."

That's a steady philosophy, and the 189-average bowler was just as steady with his sharp-breaking hook. He never missed a frame during the sterling series, and during the last game tied eight strikes together.

Koehler's games were 227-240-266. His series boosted his team to the high scratch series of the year in Lincoln, a 2,944.

After taking up bowling in 1942, Koehler, of 709 Marshall St., laid off for five years in 1949, but has been bowling steadily since 1954. He now bowls with three leagues.

Despite Koehler's outstanding performance his team lost one of its three games.

But with a 733 series, you hardly could say Bill Koehler wasn't carrying his share Monday night.

Joe Erskine Likely Heavyweight Foe

Patterson To Defend Crown In London Title Match

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time in 25 years a world heavyweight title boxing match will be held outside the United States when Floyd Patterson defends his championship in London in late June. The probable opponent is Joe Erskine who holds the British Empire crown. Erskine, who is just 24, has lost only once in 31 pro fights. He was stopped in the first round by Cuba's Nino Valdes last February in London.

To clinch the Patterson match, Erskine must defeat Ingemar Johansson of Sweden, the European champion, in a Feb. 21 bout in Sweden.

Promoter Harry Levene of London and Patterson's manager, Gus D'Amato, Monday issued a beating agreement in principle. No financial terms were disclosed but Patterson undoubtedly will get a hefty guarantee.

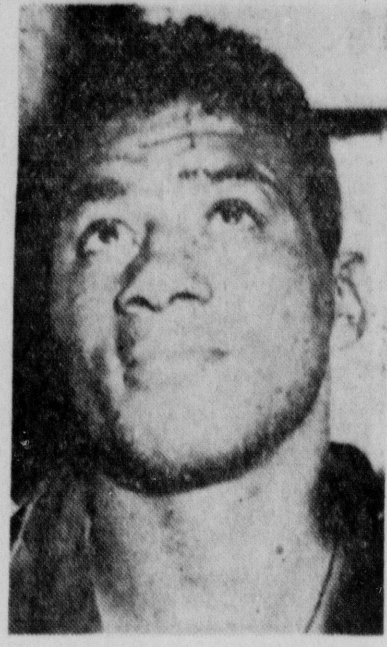

Levene said he hoped to stage the bout in London's Wembley Stadium which can take care of 85,000 people. "I expect to sell out," he said. The promoter said he expected to leave soon for home "now that I have completed my business."

Both Levene and D'Amato refused to be pinned down on what would happen to the match if Erskine should lose to Johansson. "We have one or two ideas in mind," said Levene.

However, it has been known for some time that D'Amato figured on boxing an American in London if Erskine should be beaten. It could be Pete Rademacher, the former amateur king who was stopped by Patterson last August.

The last time a heavyweight champion put his title on the line outside the United States was in 1933 when Primo Carnera went home to Italy and fought Paolino Uzcudun in Rome. Carnera won a decision in 15 rounds.

Patterson and D'Amato also agreed to make a trip to London where the champ will box a three-round exhibition on Levene's next boxing card, March 25, at Empress Hall.

New Sky Sox Group Is Busy; Sioux City 'Set'

. . . Dukes Get Full Agreement

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

The Western League may still operate with eight teams in 1958 if current negotiations work out satisfactorily, The Star learned late Monday night.

A new group in Colorado Springs has undertaken to re-install the 'Sky Sox in the Western. News reports to this effect were circulating in Colorado Springs Monday.

It was also learned that the Chicago White Sox would continue their working agreement with the Sky Sox if the new group proves satisfactory. A meeting of the group, President O. M. Hobbs of the Western and White Sox officials is slated Thursday in Chicago.

Sioux City is a cinch entry again for 1958 if Colorado Springs can make the grade, it was reported.

The Star learned reliably that the San Francisco Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals have agreed to supply eight players apiece and financial assistance to the Soos, providing the Sky Sox operate to make the eighth club.

Contacted by telephone in Pueblo, Hobbs told The Star:

"There is a new group in Colorado Springs trying to get things started again. I'm scheduled to meet with them at noon Tuesday in Colorado Springs. However I can't divulge any details at this time.

"All I can say is that Colorado Springs people have asked me to meet with them Tuesday and help them get started and to accompany them to Chicago for a meeting. This I am very happy to do.

"While I can't say any more, it looks like there's a good chance for the Western League to operate with eight teams in 1958."

Hobbs said that the league had not shut the door on the Sky Sox and the Soos at the Lincoln meeting, Jan. 19, and that both clubs would be welcomed back if they can operate.

At the Lincoln meeting both teams said they could not operate and the directors voted a six-team league for the upcoming year.

Sioux City's only reason for dropping out was the fact that the Soos couldn't come up with a full working agreement.

But the new deal — which would see the Giants and the Cardinals chipping in to insure the equivalent of a full agreement — erases the obstacle to Sioux City's continuance in the Western.

Adam Pratt, the major dome of the Soos, has agreed to the Giant-Card combination and will send the Soos to the post if Colorado Springs can come up with a workable organization, it was learned.

Actually, the White Sox are anxious to have the Sky Sox because they need a spot to play their Class A farmhands. When Colorado Springs announced it was quitting the Western, Glenn Miller, White Sox farm director, indicated the Chicago Class A players would have to be split up among some Class B teams.

So, if the Colorado Springs group meets with the approval of Chicago, there seems to be little question that the Sky Sox will return to the fold and, at the same time, insure Sioux City's entry.

Meanwhile, the Western League got some other good news Monday with the announcement that Albuquerque has signed a full working agreement with the Cincinnati Reds.

NE Swimmer Who Couldn't Win In '57 Undeclared In Eight Races This Year

By RON SPEER
Star Sports Staff Writer

A year ago Larry Ferrell was just another swimmer on the Northeast team.

He had been beaten by nearly every backstroke in the state.

Today the 17-year-old senior is the toast of the swimming corps at Northeast. He is undefeated in eight meets this year, has posted the best time in the state in the 100-yard backstroke and has set three pool records.

How did the 6-3, 180 pounder improve so much in a single year?

Ken Wall, Northeast swim

coaches, credits most of the improvement to "persistence."

"Most boys would have been discouraged after taking a beating week after week like Larry did a year ago. But he kept plugging away and it paid off."

"He won the final dual meet last spring, and managed a third in the state 100-yard backstroke. Every backstroke in the state meet had beaten him at least once, but that didn't bother Larry. He went out and was clocked in 1:10.5, not far behind the winner."

Wall also noted that Larry has gained nearly 20 pounds and grown three inches, and "he's quite a bit stronger than he was last year."

Ferrell, a modest, quiet youngster, swam a lot last summer and feels that much of his improvement can be credited to that.

He works part-time and his swimming workouts are somewhat limited during the school months.

Ferrell's best clocking of 1:06.0 in the 100-yard backstroke is less than two seconds over the state mark of 1:04.7 set by Dave Van DeWater in 1950.

"I hope the backstroke record doesn't run in cycles," Coach Wall said. "Dick Marshall, now a Lincoln doctor, set a 1940 mark which lasted ten years until Van DeWater broke it in 1950."

"We're a couple of years early, but I think that Larry might get under the mark if his turns go well. After all, he has a month left to improve his best time of 1:06.0."

Larry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Ferrell of 2509 N. 49th St., hopes he can keep his undefeated streak intact throughout the year.

"It will take a lot of work," he said Monday night, "but I think maybe I can do it."

Northeast hosts Southeast in a dual swimming meet in the Rockets pool Wednesday at 4:30 p.m. and Lincoln prep fans will be able to see if the determined Northeast lad can win his ninth straight backstroke race.

Somewhere in the neighborhood of 4,000 bowlers—with an equal number of styles, approaches and follow-throughs—took part in the just-finished Men's City Bowling Tournament.

That compares favorably with the 175 that annually turn out for the city golfing championship.

There is no getting around it—bowling is a mighty popular sport.

Al Kahler, Journal-Star League bowler who was on the No. 20 team in the tourney, has the best explanation on why the alley sport is outdistancing golf.

"In golf, you hit the ball and then have to go after it."

"In bowling, they are kind enough to bring the ball back to you!"

Most of Lincoln's top bowlers practiced for weeks before the keg tourney got underway.

In some cases it probably helped—but at least one city bowler didn't need it.

Ward Zimmerman hadn't bowled for nearly two years. He was injured in an auto accident and the doctor told him to stay off the alleys.

But two weeks before the tourney opened Zimmerman got the green light from doc and entered the meet.

The two-year layoff didn't hinder the veteran kegler. He rolled a scratch 638 in the singles, added a 21-pin handicap, (taken from his league record of two years ago) and finished fifth in the tourney.

Incidentally, there's a little more to the story: the accident that sidelined Zimmerman occurred in Omaha—in front of a bowling alley.

Bill Hawkins, Nebraska track captain, is optimistic about the Huskers' chances in the Big Eight indoor track meet at Kansas City Feb. 28-Mar. 1.

"If Oklahoma can get enough points away from Kansas, I think we have a good chance to get up there," Bill told me recently.

"We've got some great hurdlers and middle distance men, and I think we will win our share of those events. And in Joe Mullins Nebraska has one of the best all-around runners in the Big Eight," the Beatrice grad added.

Track fans' first opportunity to watch Mullins, a Nova Scotia native, in action is Saturday afternoon, when Nebraska hosts Iowa State and Kansas State in an indoor triangular.

The powerful sophomore can run the quarter mile, the half, the mile or the two mile in commendable fashion. His forte is the mile, always a crowd-pleasing event.

According to Hawkins, Keith Gardner is faster than ever this year. The Jamaican Jet won the high hurdles in the conference meet a year ago against stiff opposition.

Nebraska's best chance to cop a Big Eight flag appears to be in track, and I'll be there Saturday when the pennant-bidding Husker cindermen make their debut.

During the past 10 years Oklahoma has basked in the knowledge that it was one of the nation's top football schools.

But one of the Sooners' most remarkable records was set some 41 years ago. Arlo Davis, who died last week of a heart attack, established a kicking mark which will be around when Sputniks are history.

On Sept. 29, 1917, Davis successfully converted 23 of 26 extra point attempts in a single game, as Oklahoma defeated Kingfisher (Okla.) College 179-0.

Last week in a sports story in The Star it was pointed out that Kansas' Wilt Chamberlain was averaging as many points a game as any two men on the other Big Eight basketball teams.

Havelock Pharmacist Bill Mueksch scoffed at the news.

"Why shouldn't he? He's as tall as any two guys in the conference."

HOUSTON (AP) — A tight zone defense and standout rebounding brought unranked Houston a 70-64 upset over Oklahoma State, ending the Cowboys winning streak at 12 games.

Oklahoma State, ranked seventh in the nation, had lost only to Kansas — in the season opener — before Monday night.

Russ Boone and Ed Erickson did the line job off the backboards for the Cougars, who now have a 6-8 record.

LYLE NAMED ESKIMO BOSS

EDMONTON (AP) — Melvin (Sam) Lyle, 35, for the last four seasons an assistant coach at the University of Oklahoma, has been signed as head coach of the Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Football Conference, it was announced Monday.

He replaces Frank (Pop) Ivy, who left the Eskimos after four years to become head coach of the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League.

"We finally chose Lyle after considering upwards of 30 applicants," said Eskimo President Cec Ross. "One of the strongest persuasives in Lyle's case, in addition to his undoubted qualifications for the post, was his Oklahoma background."

Lyle, a native of Eldorado, Ark., succeeded Ivy at Oklahoma when Ivy came to Edmonton. Lyle spent three years in the U.S. Navy before enrolling at Louisiana State where he played end. He was captain at the Louisiana State team of 1949 that lost to Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl.

Lyle joins the Eskimos with eight seasons of coaching experience behind him, one as Louisiana State's freshman coach, three as an assistant at Georgia Tech and four at Oklahoma under Bud Wilkinson.

W. Virginia Toppled By Duke, 72-68

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Duke fought off a late rally and defeated West Virginia 72-68, knocking the nation's No. 1 ranked college basketball team from the unbeaten ranks here Monday night.

Duke jumped to a 2-0 lead after 47 seconds and thereafter showed little doubt in marching toward one of the season's major upset victories.

Twice the Blue Devils stretched the margin to 11 points during the first half. At the intermission, Duke led 39-35, and three minutes after the rest period again had stretched the score, this time to 47-37.

With 8:50 of the second half gone, Bob Smith hit a jump shot and gave the Mountaineers the lead for the first time, 50-49. The lead see-sawed for five minutes. Then Duke's Bobby Joe Harris scored on a jump shot and Duke took over for good 60-59.

The Mountaineers of the Southern Conference, had a 14-0 record going into the game, against the Atlantic Coast Conference's Duke whose mark was 6-5.

All five of Duke's starters scored in the double figures. Jim Newcome had 20 points, followed by Bob Vernon with 18, Bucky Allen and Paul Schmidt with 12 each, and Harris with 10.

Bob Smith and Jerry West, with 24 and 20 respectively, were West Virginia's only double-figure scorers.

Newcome grabbed 14 rebounds for Duke, while West and Lloyd Sharrar had 14 each for West Virginia.

Stransky Given Sports Award

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Bob Stransky, Colorado University star halfback, was given the second annual Colorado Sports Achievement Award by the Colorado Springs Quarterback Club Monday.

The presentation was made by Chester Nelson, Sports Editor of the Rocky Mountain News, Denver, at a luncheon. Hayes Alan Jenkins, Olympic figure skating champion, won the award last year.

Stransky was the runnerup for national rushing honors in the 1957 grid season and was named to the Associated Press second All-America team. He was placed on the Big Eight All-Conference team.

Stransky, whose home town is at Yankton, S.D., was the first Colorado University player to appear in three post-season games — the East-West contest, the Hula Bowl and the Senior Bowl. He signed a contract with the Baltimore Orioles to play professional football next season.

The teams played evenly in the first half with the score tied five times and the lead changing five times. Creighton held a 27-25 intermission lead as the result of a last second field goal by Bill Martens.

Plainsmen Tackle Kearney Tonight

Nebraska Wesleyan bids for a third place tie in the Nebraska College Conference basketball race as the Plainsmen tackle Kearney State at Kearney.

Wesleyan owns a 4-2 mark in NCC play to date, while Kearney is 5-1. A Plainsmen victory would even both clubs at 3-2 along with Peru, 61-50 victor over Doane Monday night.

Hastings is in the driver's seat in the loop race with a 7-0 record, while Chadron has a 7-1 mark for second place.

Pearce Won't Stand In Line

By DON BRYANT

Sports Editor, The Star

LeRoy Pearce, assistant football coach at the University of Nebraska, made it clear Monday that he wasn't beating down the door for a crack at the head coaching job at Iowa State College.

While he has been contacted by the Cyclones athletic director Louis Menze, and invited to Ames for an interview, Pearce is undecided about accepting the offer of consultation.

Pearce was contacted by Menze after Dr. James Hilton, president of Iowa State, asked Chancellor Clifford Hardin of Nebraska for permission to talk to the Husker aide.

"I don't see what could be accomplished by standing in line over there," Pearce said Monday. "I just don't believe I want to do that."

"They know me (Pearce was an assistant under Jim Myers last year) and I don't see what an interview can accomplish."

"If they want to make me an offer, I will be glad to consider it, but right now I don't see any sense in becoming one of many candidates."

Pearce also indicated he was very pleased with his new post at Nebraska, a factor which may have a bearing on his decisions in the future.

"The one thing I am sure of right now," he said, "is that I am very happy at Nebraska. . . . I certainly like it here."

Pearce said he had been contacted via telephone by members of the Cyclone football team and other interested people.

There was a growing feeling around the Husker campus Monday that the likelihood of Pearce's leaving Nebraska for Iowa State was diminishing.

Since he is "happy" at Nebraska and apparently has no intention of joining a procession of candidates for the Cyclone job, there is a good chance he may withdraw his name from any consideration unless Iowa State comes up with a firm offer very shortly.

DON LEO HOPES REF 'SLOWER'

... In Rattle Tonight

Don Leo Johanson, 295-pound meenie from Utah, will get another chance Tuesday night to wrestle the world's heavyweight wrestling championships from Edouard Carpentier.

The Mormon giant, balked by an eager referee here two weeks ago, gets the second chance in the championship windup of Matchmaker Tom Novak's all-star show at the Fairgrounds 4-H Building.

In their earlier bout here, with each winner of a fall, Referee Jerry Adam "counted too quick," by Don Leo's reckoning, and the big fella was the loser.

The near riot that followed was as wild and woolly as ever seen at the local mat palace.

This time, Matchmaker Novak asserts, there'll be plenty of extra policemen to lend a hand. They probably will be needed — if Don Leo is up to par. He generally is.

It'll be two out of three falls to a 60-minute time limit.

Semiwindup will find Legs Langevin of New England going against the ex-world's champ from Chicago, Bobby Bruns, in a two out of three falls, 45-minute affair.

Langevin had the fans yammering here two weeks ago.

The lassies will draw the 8:30 o'clock show opening chores.

It'll be Lorraine Johnson of Red Wing, Minn., who lays claim to the world's championship among the ladies, going against the pert St. Joseph, Mo., comer, Kay Noble.

Palmyra, Syracuse Win Oteo Games

NEBRASKA CITY—Top-seeded Syracuse and Palmyra scored handy first round victories here Monday night in the Oteo County basketball tournament.

Palmyra dumped Douglas, 59-20, and Nebraska City St. Bernard whipped Dunbar 46-37 to complete the first night's action.

Tonight, Talmage meets Burr and Unadilla tackles St. Bernard. All three teams led all the way in gaining their victories. St. Bernard's Lyle Volkmer and Chuck Stoner of Palmyra shared high point honors for the night, each with 19.

NC St. Bernard . . . 10 10 11 15-46

WILT: NOPE

WICHITA, Kan. — Sports writers spotted University of Kansas basketball players Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain and Ron Loneski at Sunday's National Industrial League Basketball game here.

Pete Lightner, sports editor of the Wichita Eagle, said both insisted there was no significance to their presence at the game, in which Wichita defeated Bartlesville 102-97.

"Looking him straight in the belt buckle," wrote Virgil Quinlisk in the Wichita Beacon, he asked Wilt about various things, including Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson, the only player who tops Wilt in the National Collegiate scoring race. Quinlisk reported the conversation went thus:

Quinlisk: "You down here for something special?"

Wilt: "Ball game."

"You a guest of Wichita?"

"Nope."

"Bartlesville?"

DALLAS STEPS UP AAA BID

DALLAS — The former owners of the Dallas Eagles of the Texas Baseball League stepped up efforts to obtain a Triple-A franchise.

The heirs of Dick Burnett turned the AAA franchise back to the Texas League Dec. 30, saying they wanted to field an AAA club in Dallas.

Since then, no one has come up with an acceptable plan to keep Dallas in the league, largely because a satisfactory playing site could not be found.

An agreement could not be reached with the Burnett interests for use of the Eagles' park.

Unless the league fields a team in Dallas on opening day, Dallas becomes open territory.

Warner Lewis, general manager of the Burnett interests, says he believes an AAA team can be obtained for Dallas this year.

Lewis said he would make a study of baseball law concerning open territory.

The Dallas situation is expected to go before the meeting of Texas League directors in Houston Saturday and Sunday.

Texas League President Dick Butler indicated the league directors might want to operate a team here as a league project.

No less than five Class AA teams are scheduled tonight, highlighted by an Inter-City scrap featuring Central and North in Omaha.

North Platte and Beatrice face rough tests, and Scottsbluff a lesser foe, in games at home.

The Platters tackle Lexington, ranked sixth this week in Class

A, while Beatrice meets Plattsmouth, No. 9 in Class A. Scottsbluff entertains Mitchell of Class B.

Cozad, the No. 3 Class A team, also tangles with a rated team from the class immediately below in this case Minden, No. 5 among the B teams. Omaha Holy Name, No. 5 in Class A, has an engagement with the Iowa School for the Deaf.

Other games tonight include Cambridge at Curtis, Howells at Scribner, Geneva at Hebron, Bayard at Minatare, Sutton at Aurora, Shelby at David City St. Mary's, Hastings St. Cecilia at Clay Center, Pawnee City at Tecumseh, Litchfield at Arnold, Leigh at Uehling, Milford at Henderson, and Inman at Chambers.

The South Platte Valley Class B starts Thursday at Venango, while the Hi-Line waits until Friday to open at Wallace.

Utah Heads Won't Talk About Nagle

SALT LAKE CITY — Officials of the University of Utah hedged Monday when asked if UCLA's assistant coach Ray Nagel was a candidate for the head football coaching job.

But Nagel, reached in Los Angeles, confirmed he flew to Salt Lake City Saturday morning, visited the Utah campus, then flew home Saturday night.

"I did visit," he told a reporter. "I did chat with some of the school officials, but other than that I think any information should come from the university. No job offer was made."

Asked if he was interviewed, he replied, "Yes, I guess you could call it that."

But president of the university, Dr. A. Ray Olpin, told of Nagel's statement, said simply: "No comment."

Earlier he answered queries this way: "I don't think he's here . . . that is now."

"I don't think I ought to comment."

"At least I know he's not here now. I imagine he's gone back home."

Athletic Director Bud Jack, appointed only last week, said he didn't want to comment.

Utah is looking for a successor to Jack Curcio, who becomes head football coach at Stanford March 1.

After a lengthy executive session last week, the Utah board of regents tabled an administration recommendation that Andy Everett, assistant under Curcio, be named head coach.

Tech Tramples Kentucky, 71-52

ATLANTA — Georgia Tech ruined Kentucky's perfect Southeastern Conference record Monday night with a 71-52 basketball victory over the Wildcats.

After going out at halftime trailing 31-33 Tech came back in the second half and with 12 minutes left led Kentucky 47-41.

The Yellow Jackets continued to press the Wildcats and on numerous occasions stole the ball. With about a minute left Tech ran the point spread to 20 and led 71-51.

The upset victory gave the Yellow Jackets a tie with Kentucky in the SEC championship race. Both now have 5-1 conference records. Kentucky's record for all games is 12-4 against a 12-6 record for Tech.

Kentucky Pride Out

MIAMI, Fla. — Calumet Farms withdrew undefeated Kentucky Pride from the $7,500 Cor-sair purse Monday, removing much of the glitter from the six furlong race for horses of Kentucky Derby age.

No reason was given but the track was rated "good" and Calumet entered Kentucky Pride in today's feature, also at six furlongs. In addition, Calumet named its highly regarded Tim Tam for the $5,000 race which drew 12 entries.

Financial Markets Take Calmly News Of Robert Young's Suicide

... Alleghany Corp. Shares Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — Financial markets Monday took calmly the shocking weekend news of Robert R. Young's suicide.

Stocks of Alleghany Corp. scored a smart gain, largely reflecting a Supreme Court decision, while New York Central finished unchanged. Young was chairman of both companies.

Financier Young, a flamboyant figure on the nation's railroad scene, ended his life Saturday at his Palm Beach home when he fired a shotgun blast into his head.

Young's body is en route to Newport, R.I., where he will be buried Tuesday.

New England Areas Face Flood Threat

BOSTON (AP) — Sections of New England Monday faced their greatest flood threat since punishing hurricane Diane struck the area in 1955.

Greater Boston appeared hit the hardest as both the Charles and Neponset Rivers overflowed their banks, flooded lowlands and inundated highways. Thousands of cellars were flooded and the Massachusetts civil defense was placed on an operational basis.

No relief appeared in sight as the Weather Bureau predicted more rain for Tuesday.

Army engineers kept a close watch of streams. They regulated the flow of water on two dams—the Mansfield Hollow, north of Williamstown, Conn., and the Edward MacDowell Dam four miles west of Peterborough, N.H.

Without Heat

About 150 families at York and York Beach, Maine, were without central heat as streets were flooded to two and three feet. Merchants used rowboats to go back and forth between stores on main street.

The locks at the Charles River lower basin were opened at low tide to drain off some flood waters. Cities and towns along the lower reaches of the Charles and Neponset were hit hardest.

The lower Charles is expected to rise to a stage of six feet by Wednesday, which is three feet above flood stage. The Neponset is expected to reach 11 feet—two above flood stage.

The nearby Norwood Airport was completely under water from the rampaging Neponset.

The steady rain created a record for January. The Weather Bureau said it is the wettest first month since records were started in 1870.

Rita And Hill Obtain Marriage License

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Rita Hayworth and Producer James Hill Monday obtained a marriage license and said they will be married early next month.

It will be the first marriage for Hill, 41, and the fifth for the 39-year-old actress.

Closes Higher

Alleghany Corp. common stock opened at $4.25 a share on the New York Stock Exchange, off 25 cents, but it closed at $5.25, a gain of 75 cents for the day.

Alleghany Prior Preferred raced ahead $8.12, closing at $39.12, while the preferred was up $5 at $210.

Buying in these stocks followed a Supreme Court decision which directed a three-judge Federal Court to decide whether an Alleghany Preferred stock issue was in violation of the Interstate Commerce Act.

New York Central opened at $15.37, off 12 cents from Friday, and closed at $15.50, unchanged. Alleghany has working control of New York Central through ownership of nearly one million shares of Central stock. Bonds of the Central were down with the 6 per cent issue of 1960 off $10 at $87.50 for a $1,000 bond.

Missouri Pacific Class "A" stock closed at $23.62, up 62 cents. Alleghany has an investment in Missouri Pacific.

Market Mixed

The general stock market was mixed in moderately active dealings.

Demand for the Alleghany issues followed a Supreme Court ruling which reversed a lower court order blocking a long-delayed plan to issue new 6 per cent preferred stock.

This was the last step in a program to eliminate from Alleghany's capital structure back stock dividends which have accumulated on its 5 1/2 per cent preferred stock.

The Central, meanwhile, reported it earned only $204,857 in December compared with $6,899,423 in the same month in 1956. For the year 1957 net income as $3,423,078, equal to $1.30 a share, compared with $39,104,259, equal to $6.02 a share, in 1956.

Alfred Perlman, president, said the road was "caught in a vise between inflationary costs on one hand and, on the other, an archaic system of regulation which denies us the freedom to adjust our prices and services to these soaring expenses."

John L. Jacobs Of NU Staff Dies

John L. Jacobs of 1701 Harwood, a retired member of the University of Nebraska staff, died Monday.

Surviving are his wife, Emma; sons, Norvel L. of Lincoln and John Jr. of Alexandria, Va.; daughters, Mrs. E. C. Phillips of Ft. Wayne, Ind., Mrs. E. Burton Brown and Mrs. Robert Chastain, both of Lincoln, and 10 grandchildren.

90th Birthday

Mrs. Mary J. Rogers, who celebrated her 90th birthday Jan. 27, was honored at a birthday luncheon by the Women's Missionary Fellowship at Havlock. Mrs. Rogers lives with a daughter, Mrs. Lou Krieger, at 6902 Ballard Ave. Here for the celebration were three other children, Mrs. Lee Jagars, Omaha; Mrs. Emil Jensen, Butte, Mont.; and Charles Rogers, Casper, Wyo.

DES MOINES FIRE KILLS 5

DES MOINES (INS) — Five men were killed Monday when a $100,000 fire swept through a walk-up hotel in downtown Des Moines, the Olympia.

Four victims of the two-alarm blaze were identified as 75-year-old Melvin G. Allen, 75-year-old Everett D. Martin, 69-year-old Joe Ingersoll and 60-year-old Orion Immel. The fifth man, not immediately identified, was about 35 years old.

Firemen helped 37 other occupants of the second and third floors of the building to escape. The fire apparently started in the rear of a ground-floor cafe, where there had been a blaze eight days earlier.

Many of the occupants of the building were old age pensioners.

30 Overcome

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — More than 30 workers at a northwest Phoenix clothing factory were overcome by fumes.

Twenty-five women and one man were taken to hospitals after collapsing on the job at the Grunwald-Marx shirt plant. The sheriff's office said an undetermined number of victims were treated at the scene and did not require hospitalization.

Deputies said a faulty air conditioning system apparently was responsible. They said the workers were overcome by "some kind" of fumes.

Historical Markers May Be Put Up During Centennial Here

The erection of historical markers may be included in plans for the Lincoln centennial in 1959, James Ebel, president of the Lincoln Centennial, Inc., said Monday.

"It sounds like a good idea," he commented, but added that it would not be given consideration before March 1, when the report of Harry J. Krusz & Co. will be received.

The company has been employed by the Lincoln Centennial, Inc., to formulate final plans and timetable for the centennial year.

Renewed Interest

There has been renewed interest in possible historical marker sites here now that preliminary location studies are underway by the Historical Land Marks Committee.

Dr. James C. Olson, a former director of the Nebraska State Historical Society and a trustee of Lincoln Centennial, Inc., has mentioned several sites as "typical of the type of places which should be given consideration" by the Historical Land Marks Committee.

Among the sites he mentioned were that of the old Donovan Cabin at 14th & O, where plans were made for the founding of Lincoln; the old William Jennings Bryan home; and the site of the first University of Nebraska building.

Need Road Signs

Dr. Olson explained that, although plaques are already located at some local historical sites, he said he had in mind complementary road signs.

Dr. W. D. Aeschbacher, director of the Nebraska Historical Society, and secretary of the Historical Land Marks Committee, said he has not been contacted by any local groups concerning possible financing of historical markers in Lincoln.

At the present time, Dr. Aeschbacher said, the committee, feels that the first state markers ought to be erected "in relation to heavily traveled highways."

More financial support would be needed, he explained, before additional marker locations could be considered.

Limited Funds

The State Historical Society itself presently has a very limited amount of money available for such purpose. About $1,300, surplus of the Territorial Centennial Commission, was turned over to the Society to be used for a purpose of this general nature, Aeschbacher said.

Historical points in Nebraska which have received particular mention as meriting markers include:

Old Forts: Ft. Atkinson (Lewis and Clark's Council Bluffs); Ft. Kearney; Ft. Hartsville; Ord; Ft. Niobrara, Valentine; Ft. McPherson, Maxwell; Ft. Sidney and Ft. Robinson, Crawford.

Settler Sites: Blackbird Hill, Thurston County; Winter Quarters, Florence; Lone Tree, Central City; Chimney Rock, Bayard; Ash Hollow, Jewell; Rock Creek Station, Fairbury.

Indian Sites: Pawnee Indian village site, Red Cloud; Pawnee School, Genoa; Battle Sites: Massacre Canyon, west of McCook; Battle of Blue Springs, near Jewell.

In addition, pioneer trails such as the Oregon Trail and the Mormon Trail; and cattle trails, as the one crossing U. S. Highway 30 at Ourlala and the Sidney-Deadwood stagecoach trail, are typical of sites which might be marked.

Dale L. Renner Of CPPD Heads Engineers Club

Dale L. Renner, district manager of Consumers Public Power District, was elected president of the Engineers Club of Lincoln, Monday.

He succeeds T. C. Cheuvront.

Renner

Chester E. Charles of the State Department of Roads and Irrigation, was honored as the club's distinguished member in 1957.

Others elected at the annual meeting were N. H. Beezley, vice president; Robert B. Obering, secretary-treasurer; Allan L. Rae and Keith N. Newhouse, directors.

J. L. Lyne, James L. Way and W. F. Weiland were awarded life memberships to the club.

Rees Wilkinson Said Satisfactory

City Councilman Rees Wilkinson was reported in "satisfactory" condition Monday at Lincoln General Hospital.

Wilkinson, who has a heart ailment according to his associates, entered the hospital over the weekend for observation and treatment.

Quake In South Pacific Reported To Be Heavy

BERKELEY, Calif. (INS) — A heavy South Pacific earthquake believed to have rocked the Riji or Tonga Islands was reported Monday by the University of California seismological laboratory in Berkeley.

Seismologist Dr. Don Tocher said the quake had a duration of 45 minutes and was located about 5,000 miles southwest of Berkeley. It registered a magnitude of 6.5 on the Richter scale of 10.

LATE RALLY LIFTS GRAINS

CHICAGO (AP)—A late boosted most grain futures to the plus side of Friday's

The demand came in the final several minutes of trading after March wheat and soybeans and most rye contracts had hit new low prices for the season.

There at fractions below Friday's closes. However, a report that farmers had begun a rush to place their 1957 stocks under Government loan brought the shots in the buying side to cover their commitments.

The loan privilege on the 1957 crop expires Jan. 31.

Corn, which also had been deserted, in the earlier dealings suddenly stirred along with the deferred soybean contracts on spirited demand and turned their losses into gains.

Traders said the government report of Friday on huge stocks of grain in the United States had not been expected and that it had little or no effect on Monday's prices.

One trader said, however, that the corn was about 10 million bushels more than for Jan. 1, 1957 was a little surprising because of the larger numbers of livestock on feed but that the difference was not enough to alter trader sentiment on that premise alone.

In general, the report was described only as confirming again already bearish feeling.

More Charges To Be Filed Against Hahn

Lincoln Star Special
SEWARD, Neb., — County Attorney Russell Soucek said Monday that additional charges would be filed Tuesday against James Hahn, 20, Concordia College student.

Hahn is being held for auto theft and is being questioned in connection with the shooting of Donald Miller, 21, a Concordia student, who is listed as "doing quite well" at a Lincoln hospital.

Sheriff Ray Welch said Hahn is one of at least four Concordia students involved in a series of car pilferings which came to light in the shooting investigation.

Dr. Paul A. Zimmerman, president of Concordia College, has been making his own investigation in connection with the shooting and car lootings.

A college source said Dr. Zimmerman has found no negligence so far as the college was concerned.

It was pointed out that 13 boys had registered guns this year and displayed required hunting licenses. There was no pistol registered.

Miller was shot with a revolver and the bullet struck him under the heart. His legs have been paralyzed but it has not been determined whether the paralysis will be permanent.

Sheriff Welch said the investigation so far has solved the looting of a number of cars during the last three months. He said no other arrests have been made and no charges filed, but the boys involved are co-operating in getting the stolen goods back.

Some of the stolen items were sold in Lincoln, some were taken to South Dakota and some to Chicago, Welch said.

Welch said Hahn admitted taking a trap gun and a quantity of magnum shells from a car in Seward and trading the gun in Chicago for the .38 revolver used in the shooting of Miller.

One person had no trouble being excused from jury duty Monday as 73 were selected from a panel of 120 for duty in Lancaster District Court.

He was Paul Beave, who as jury commissioner is not eligible for jury duty. Beave is the newly-appointed county jury commissioner and adult probation officer.

Beave's former boss, Police Chief Joe Carroll, had no such luck. He was one of the 73 selected to serve during the two-week court term which opened Monday.

Only civil cases are on the docket. Criminal cases are slated for a jury term to be called in February.

300 DEAD OR MISSING IN STORMS

... Off Japan
TOKYO (Tuesday) (INS) — An estimated 300 persons were listed Tuesday as dead or missing in the loss of 14 Japanese vessels struck down by a violent gale that lashed Japan's inland sea and Pacific coasts.

Latest reports received by the Maritime Safety Board said six ships sank, three capsized and five others vanished in coastal waters during the fierce wind storm Sunday night.

The sinkings stirred rising alarm over the frequency of Japanese Sea disasters.

The worst of the maritime tragedies overtook the crack, 495-ton ferry steamer Nankai Maru which capsized and sank in the inland sea with an indicated loss of all 172 persons aboard.

Early Tuesday morning, Japanese Coast Guard searchers abandoned all hope of finding any survivors from among the Nankai Maru's 143 passengers and 29 crewmen.

Thirteen other vessels were sunk in the howling gale, increasing the toll by an additional 90 persons listed as dead or missing.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

Each day we go down town and play the Mexican lottery. I am a child of fortune and have unlimited optimism.

"This is a pretty number, Senor."

The street salesman of lottery tickets knows my weakness.

I like numbers that begin and end in the same number. We buy lottery tickets by the piece. Each number has 20 pieces. You can tear off one piece. Or you can buy the "entero" — the whole 20 on one number. Go for broke.

The lottery is run by the government. On Monday we have a first prize of 200,000 pesos — $16,000. Each piece costs two pesos, 16 cents.

On Wednesday, the 500,000 prize. A cool $40,000 with each piece costing a mere 40 cents.

But Friday! That is our day. Each piece cost 80 cents and $16 for the entero. It pays 1 million pesos! $80,000! With a million pesos, I would settle down in Mexico.

I would buy a big hat and flake out under a shady pepper tree. I would buy pottery from the Indians and sell it to the tourists. I would parlay the lottery into an automobile and become a guide.

I would guide the tourists to silver factories where the patron would give me 25 per cent commission.

By and by I would buy my own silver factory. There is no end to what I could do with a million pesos. That is why I play the lottery.

"May the Virgin send you luck, Senor," says the lottery seller handing me the tickets.

We depend on the Almighty and the Saints in our lottery dealings. This would be considered profane in the States, I suppose. But here it is OK. We need heavenly help and do not hesitate to ask for it.

I have yet to win in the lottery. But I have hope and faith.

I have got my money back. Each drawing, two special numbers are drawn. If your ticket ends in this number you get your money back — a 20 per cent chance.

A whole list of smaller prizes are drawn, too. They cover a quarter page of small type in the newspapers. When the papers arrive, we look first for the numbers that return your money. Then we look for the first prize. Then we run down the list in numerical order to where our number should be.

Marriage Ends
WESSINGTON SPRINGS, S.D. (AP) — The week old marriage of Patty Duncan Burg Rasmussen, 18, and Lars Rasmussen, 77, ended in tragedy.

The young woman's body was found in her foster parents' garage, a .410 shotgun nearby. Coroner Day Schryer ruled the death a suicide.

The Rasmussens were married Jan. 20. The young bride left no note and members of the family could give no reason for the act.

Barred
LONDON (INS) — The blonde British actress known as Sabrina entered a London clinic after her low neckline dress was barred on a British television program.

Sabrina went on the program but tucked a scarf into her dress front. Later, in tears, she said she was suffering from nervous exhaustion and would stay in the clinic for a week — except for a stage appearance each night.

Governor To Ask State 3S Relocation Be 'Reconsidered'

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Victor Anderson Monday told a 10-man delegation from southeast Nebraska that he will ask the State Highway Advisory Commission to "reconsider" its recent decision on the relocation of State Highway 3S.

He further told the group from Falls City, DuBois and Pawnee City, that if the Commission feels it cannot reconsider its earlier decision, he will ask that another public hearing be held to hear additional evidence which the delegation says it can offer.

Gov. Anderson noted that State Engineer L. N. Ress was in the hospital and therefore absent from the December commission meeting when the relocation decision was made.

Lloyd Saylor of Falls City, chairman of the Richardson County Board, told the governor that the Commission's decision came as a "terrible surprise" after the hearing where, he said, sentiment was almost unanimously in favor of leaving the road as it had originally been planned.

The relocation would drop 22 miles from the state highway system while adding 13 miles.

Nebraska 3S previously was planned to run east of its junction with Nebraska 65, toward Falls City. Only a few miles of the highway have been built, however.

North Of Junction

The relocation would move 3S five miles north of its present junction with 65, then eastward on Nebraska 4 through Pawnee City, continuing east to a point south of Humboldt where it will join a new road running from Humboldt south eight miles to the so-called "Church Corner." The latter road also would help provide access to a new Boy Scout Camp near the Kansas-Nebraska border.

Gov. Anderson said both he and Ress will listen to a recording of the hearing which the Commission held in Pawnee City late in November.

Saylor, spokesman for the delegation, said money spent on the relocation "is going to be wasted because it's only a matter of time until people would demand that 3S be straightened out."

He told the governor the people of Richardson County had put up $40,000 to help toward the building of the originally planned 3S and asked, "Isn't that a lot of money?"

Ress replies that it is a "lot of money for a county and shows you're interested in the road."

Gov. Anderson told the delegation that it is his policy "not to overrule" the Highway Commission saying that to do so would obviate the purpose of having a Commission.

He said if he overruled the Commission, it would result in his making all decisions on highway matters.

You Are Unhurried . . .
Free from Traffic Troubles!

He will, however, suggest that the Commission review this particular case in light of Ress' absence and the additional information which the delegation wants to present.

Polio Mother And Children

Mrs. LeRoy McCroden of Heartwell, Nebraska Polio Mother of 1958, is shown with her two children, David, 5, who was born in an iron lung, and Carolyn, 8.

Heartwell Woman Chosen As State Polio Mother For 1958

A 30-year-old Kearney County farm wife, Mrs. LeRoy McCroden of Heartwell, has been named Nebraska Polio Mother for 1958.

Ted R. Hughes, Seward, state March of Dimes chairman, said the judges found it "most difficult" to select one from the many nominees. Judges were Miss Florence Atwood, Lincoln; Mrs. Elsie Diers, Omaha, and Mrs. Heath Griffiths, Beatrice.

Mrs. McCroden, wife of a young farmer and mother of a two-year-old girl, Carolyn, was completely paralyzed by polio in September, 1961, and for the next ten months was in an iron lung. On May 4, six weeks before she was released from the iron lung, she gave birth to a son, David, now a normal, healthy 5½ years old.

Praises Foundation

"If it hadn't been for the National Foundation," said Mrs. McCroden, "the fight would have been impossible—both financially and physically." Through extended periods of intense treatment in hospitals in Hastings, Grand Island and finally at the March of Dimes-sponsored Respiratory and Rehabilitation Center in Omaha, the Kearney County Chapter of the Polio Foundation has given every possible aid.

Now she is back home. Confined to a wheel chair and with only limited use of her hands, she directs her household, sews for the children, cooks the meals and is even active in home extension clubs, a canasta club and the Altar Society of her church.

'Not Easy To Adjust'

"It's not easy to suddenly adjust one's perspective from that of a life full of activity and physical freedom to one of confinement within the walls of an iron lung," said Mrs. McCroden.

"Once the mere survival phase of the battle is won, it is the adjustment to the realities of lasting limitations that presents the major hurdle," she remarked.

"When these limitations are accepted realistically, however, the frustration gradually subsides and once again life takes on its fuller meaning.

"Thank God for the March of Dimes and the Salk vaccine it has made possible," commented Mrs. McCroden. "Because of this vaccine, my loved ones and the loved ones of others can now be protected from the crippling effects of polio which so many already stricken must continue to fight for years to come."
